

THE HOLY HOAX

The deception of the church

Chapter 1

The most exclusive club of all time

George Carlin famously denounced the ruling elite of society as being, “the club that you cannot join.” However, once upon a time, circa 30 - 70 AD, there was a country club, “the out called”, that was so exclusive that to join it you had to meet the most exceptional and unique membership requirement of any club that ever was, or is, or ever will be. In fact, it required the meeting of a standard that was impossible for anyone to attain to - you had to be chosen by God.

Unlike other elite clubs, God was not impressed by the wealth, power, education, the right connections, or good looks and beauty of those that He selected for membership, or by anything that may have singled them out to be intrinsically superior, or more valuable, or more desirable.

On the contrary, we are informed that selection into “the out called” was not determined by merit or by any other human attribute, “For it is the base things of the world and the things which are despised that God has chosen, and the things which are not, to bring to nothing the things that are.” It was made more than evident, to and through them, that man brought nothing, and could bring nothing to their being supernaturally in-gathered as “the out called.” Everything that separated them from their Israelite brothers and sisters who were not “the out called” came entirely at the behest and through the Sovereign empowerment and intervention of God.

Furthermore, you not only had to be a member of one of the 12 tribes of the chosen nation of Israel you had to have been alive during the first half of the 1st century AD to qualify.

Spoiler alert: “The out called” could not include me or you, and it most definitely did not, cannot, and never will include any member of ‘the church’.

If you were not selected out of one of the tribes of Israel under the ‘One God, One vote’ electoral system (hence, the large-and-in-charge Sovereign title by which God introduced Himself to Israel as, “the LORD God”) you could not become a member of “the out called” who were gathered during a very specific generation of 40 years to demonstrate, in the face of Israel’s final cataclysmic descent into corruption, the power of His overwhelming love and faithfulness by completely fulfilling the promises made to Israel’s forefathers through the revelation of His overwhelming love, forgiveness, and the power of resurrection in and through His Son.

Even furthermore, for “the out called” to truly and exclusively be “the Israel of God” (in stark contrast to their brethren who remained as, “Israel after the flesh”) they also had to meet the prerequisite of having been, “chosen in Him before the creation of the world to be holy and blameless in His sight.” That is, it was God alone Who imbued those with the power to be, “the elect of God”, to “be holy and blameless in His sight.” The ‘election’ of “the out called” was ‘won’ by His selection in His predetermined foreknowledge thousands of years before any of them were born.

By any metric this truly was the most elite group that ever existed on earth, and there shall never again be another one like it. A very particular Someone, with 20/20 foresight, had an especially unique and specific purpose for the raising up of “the out called.”

When the time came for a 1st century Israelite to have their membership in “the out called” conferred upon them, it happened without prior notification, in an instant, “in the twinkling of an eye.” Right up until the moment that a member of “the out called” was “caught up” they were oblivious to their calling, and that they were being ‘gathered up’ into a spiritual realm. They were not even offered an invitation to decide if they would like to accept or decline membership in “the out called” or that such a Divine and exclusive club was being formed. They were also not even informed as to what their non-consulted membership in “the out called” would entail.

They had no fear of being “left behind” and neither should we.

Chapter 2

Second verse same as the first,
a little bit louder and a little bit worse

The selection of the first members of this club began almost 2,000 years ago when they heard the command, “Follow me”, issue directly from the lips of the long-awaited Messiah of Israel, “Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews.” When the summons did come it did not come in the form of a request, it was a Royal and irresistibly spiritual imperative that, without equivocation “out called” them from amongst one of the twelve tribes of the nation of Israel to be the members of a supernaturally transcendent company who were destined to complete a mission that was to end in 70 AD only 40 short years later.

It was to be forty years after the first of “the out called” were called out that, “the day of judgment”, “the day of vengeance of our (Israel’s) God”, fell upon His chosen nation. Israel’s prophets had repeatedly foretold this cataclysmic event, and shortly before He was murdered, Jesus Himself prophesied to His disciples that its coming would occur with His return within “this generation”, a generation that commenced with Jesus standing up to read out loud the following in Isaiah from the scroll in the synagogue in Nazareth:

“The Spirit of the LORD is upon Me, because He has anointed Me to preach the gospel to the poor; He has sent Me to heal the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives and recovery of sight to the blind, to set at liberty those who are oppressed.”

His disciples were even reminded that it was, “by grace through faith that you have been saved, and this is not your own doing; it is the gift of God, not a result of works, so that no one may boast.”

Again, they had no choice in the matter.

The final judgment that came upon Israel as God’s chosen nation in 70 AD was the result of Israel having repeatedly and utterly violated the law that, despite the severest of warnings, they had agreed, before God, to place themselves under 1,700 years previously. They finally had to face the terrible consequences that attended the breaking of the law that only “the out called” were saved from through grace by faith. The “out called” were spiritually, “snatched up”, by grace through the free-gift of faith that was not of their “own doing” - and it came, as we have just noted, through the impartation of the faith of Jesus Christ, the “Author and the Finisher of our faith” – the faith of “the out called.”

Being saved from the dire consequences of not keeping the law of “the old covenant” was a gift given to “the out called”, described by Jesus as being “a new covenant”, and it was given to them without their even being consulted. Both, “the old covenant” entered into by the nation of Israel, and “the new covenant” Sovereignly bestowed on and enjoyed only by “the out called”, ended in 70 AD when Israel ceased to be “the chosen nation” - at what had been prophesied to be, “the end of the ages of the ages” of Israel as the chosen nation.

The incessant drumbeat of religious recruitment over the centuries by so-called ‘evangelical Christianity’ makes it necessary to emphasize that the gift of the faith of Christ was a faith that was NOT an act of the will, that is, it was not something that was conjured up or arbitrated by “the out called.” This faith was Unilaterally and Supernaturally imparted only to them, and it was not of their “own doing.” It was vitally important that there was not, and there absolutely could not be, any human agency involved in their salvation from the judgment that came upon Israel. They could not, and did not, even see their being “caught up” coming.

During their short time on earth as “the out called” they came to fully understand, that “Salvation is of the Lord”, and that it was 100% the work of God, and that that faith was fully bestowed as a pure, unasked for, unexpected gift. Through His Son they were made an offer that they could not refuse by THE Godfather. Although they remained physically present as witnesses to Jesus Christ, both before and after His ascension, they were cognizant that they were, “in this world, but they were not of it”, they were, indeed, “a peculiar people.”

Thank you for bearing with the repetition of “the out called” being called out of “the chosen nation” of Israel. This remarkable occurrence happened to each of “the out called”, whether individually or in small or larger corporate settings, at a predetermined time not of their choosing, by an irresistible spiritually Divine mandate even while their feet remained firmly planted in their sandals.

They were, to use an oft misused term, raptured (Greek, ecstasis) in Spirit.

Chapter 3

Say what you mean, mean what you say

Those who were of “the out called”, who did not hear the command “Follow Me” directly from their Messiah, were nevertheless given the “ears to hear and the heart to understand” the “new covenant” that saved them, and only them, by the faith of Christ, through another Comforter, the Holy (meaning, ‘Separating’) Spirit, Who renewed their hearts. They were “born again”, and they had as much choice as to whether they wanted to be spiritually “born again” as they, or we, had a choice in our being physically born. Within that very special and distinct generation of 40 years “the out called”, by the power of the Holy Spirit, attained to “the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ.”

This maturing of “the body of Christ”, who were “the out called” (NO, ‘the church’ is NOT, “the body of Christ”!) was completed before “the day of judgment”, an appointment with destiny that Israel, as the chosen nation, had for centuries repeatedly been warned would come.

Although, “the out called” did not know the day or the hour of Israel’s judgment, they became increasingly aware of the time and season that they found themselves in because of the miraculous nature of the ministry of their Lord, Saviour, and Messiah, Jesus Christ, and by the staggering events of His crucifixion, resurrection, and ascension. They would also have been increasingly aware of the culmination of the precise timeline prophesied by Daniel 490 years earlier, and by the ever-increasing intensity of their persecution and tribulation, and by the urgency of the final and imminent prophecy given to them shortly before His death by their Lord, King, Messiah, and Friend, Jesus the Christ, Who confirmed that they were indeed witnessing the fast approaching coming of what was to be for Israel, “the great and terrible day of the Lord.”

By the close of 70 AD (one of the most momentous, but neglected, least discussed, and carefully obscured and overlooked dates in human history), the distinct commissioned work of “the out called” ended. In 70 AD their purpose as a distinctive group had become no longer necessary because the “Holy (meaning, ‘Separating’) Spirit”, that had set them apart from their Israelite countrymen for an especially exclusive 40 year season, was subsequently eclipsed and embraced by the all-inclusive and all-consuming Spirit of God, when God’s glory, as FATHER, filled the whole earth following the fall of Jerusalem and the demise of Israel as God’s chosen nation on earth. However, when this finally and mercifully did happen God’s glory did not fill the whole earth with a dramatically abrupt, spectacular, cataclysmic, overpowering, and overwhelming force. No, it began with the care and tenderness of a Father nurturing a new-born, the new Man, the new humanity in the last Adam – who were, and are, all of mankind past, present, and future.

At this time, immediately after the end of Israel as God’s chosen nation, all of mankind that had ever lived and died prior to 70 AD who were not of Israel were resurrected. But they were not resurrected into the fulfilled, and delivered Kingdom of Christ, they were gathered up into something mightier, the all-inclusive, all-encompassing spiritual family of God that embraced the promised Kingdom of Jesus Christ given to Israel, who had unknowingly provided the dark backdrop against which God, as a Father, illuminated and Personified His love and power to all mankind through His Son.

All of mankind that have lived after 70 AD, including us, and all those that shall ever live after us, have not been saved from a law that we were never under and that has been fulfilled – we have been saved from death. When each of us come to the end of the pilgrimage of our pre-determined course we will experience that, “this corruption must put on incorruption, this mortality must put on immortality.” This means that although our bodies will return, ashes-to-ashes, earth-to-earth, dust-to-dust, to the carbon-cycle from whence they came, our spirit, that came from ‘above’, will continue in an unimaginably abundant life, forever and ever ...

. . . and having passed through this vale of tears, the valley of the shadow of death, we, all of mankind that ever was, is, or ever shall be, shall rest in absolute trust as we fully appreciate share and enjoy the birthright of our ageless inheritance as One in God together.

The only thing that scripture tells us about this state, that we shall all enjoy, is that it is something that, “the eye has not seen, nor has the ear heard, nor has the heart imagined.” I will leave you to your imagination, but this state is beyond description, and it is unspeakably better than anything we have experienced or can envisage! In fact, “the out called” were specifically encouraged by Paul to “reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us.” The “sufferings of this present time”, mentioned in Romans 8:18 by Paul, entailed much more than getting passed over for promotion or being fired from a job (as serious as that can be) or of getting funny looks from the neighbours. What “the out called” endured was brutal in the extreme - so much so that Paul advised the young men of his generation not to marry.

After 70 AD, there was no further need or purpose for the continuance of “the out called”, or for “the Holy (Separating) Spirit” that called them out.

However, although the glorious but now redundant mission of “the out called” ceased to function on earth only 40 years after their inception, what did remain on earth, as long as any of the Messianists lived, was their oral testimony, and after their passing, the letters that they wrote to one another. These writings, written, preserved, and enlightened by the Father and the Son through Their now (not Holy, but) all-inclusive Spirit were released, in the timing of our Father, into something beyond Israel’s greatest possible earthly hopes or expectations, a new spiritual creation, wherein God had become, “All in all.”

However, it is vital to bear in mind that the Spirit of God, and the letters written by “the out called” were purposively released into a carnal world that was almost totally ignorant of God!

The siege of Jerusalem ended in the massacre, in 70 AD, of hundreds of thousands of Israelite lives with only a few, mainly women and children, surviving and being carried off in bondage to Rome. The members of “the out called” that had been in Jerusalem had been warned, by Jesus, to flee the city before its demise where they were preserved in the wilderness. Others of “the out called” had, for centuries, already been scattered throughout the known world, with concentrations of them being gathered in Asia Minor. Note that Paul’s ministry ended before 70 AD, and that “the out called” in Jerusalem were delivered from Israel’s fate because they had fled Israel’s cherished holy city before it was besieged, and sacked, and burned, and its temple utterly destroyed. The “out called” well knew and recognized that the covenantal ages of Israel had ended, that is, “the old covenant” that had been agreed upon by Israel with Yahweh, AND the “new covenant” that (contrary to the interloping imposture of “the church”!) was Unilaterally given only and exclusively to “the out called” through Yeshua and the Comforter, the Holy Spirit, that He sent.

Both the old and new covenants were terminated simultaneously.

It was the end of the world as Israel had known it. Hence, the prophesying to them of the coming of, “a new heaven and a new earth.”

The legalistic travesty of the utterly corrupted and fanatically religious and murderous oppression that had consumed Israel was brought to a decisive and merciful end at the promised return of Jesus, in the full power of the Spirit, as Christ Jesus. Israel's time as God's chosen holy/separated nation on earth was over, forever. It was at that same time that "the out called" as a uniquely special and separate entity on earth was, as planned and foreordained, permanently and gloriously consummated when they were reunited in Spirit with their temporarily estranged fellow Israelites who had so recently and fiercely persecuted them.

By the grace of God, the living witness and testimony of "the out called" victoriously endured and spiritually reigned with Christ Jesus over Israel for 40 years until He returned in 70 AD, in Spirit, as Christ Jesus, and judged Israel. However, the same evil and ignorant opposition that had challenged and persecuted Jesus Christ and His testimony throughout His earthly ministry continued to fiercely oppose and persecute the testimony of "the out called."

Although the power of the formalized opposition of the elders, priesthood, Pharisees and the Sadducees, and the ruling political class of Israel in the old world had unmistakably been removed before God in 70 AD, the testimony of “the out-called” was about to be eclipsed by the manifestation of a more sinister entity that was gathering and emerging out of the darkness of ignorance.

Even as those who had believed in their Messiah were beginning to be universally dispersed and were orally attesting to and exchanging the epistles/letters that had been written by and to, “the out called,” of what God had achieved through the finished work of His Son, an insidious religious entity was also beginning to fill the vacuum of the ignorance that existed in the darkness of the world.

This was not by accident; in God’s purpose a delusory imagination began to coalesce in the darkness:

‘THE CHURCH!’

Chapter 4

You don't know what you don't know

Before we examine the cleverly fabricated insinuation of 'the church', that still pathetically attempts to emulate the long ago defunct "out called" on earth to this day, it is necessary to make doubly sure that no condemnation is being, or can be, made against any member of 'the church' past, present, or future.

If you believe yourself to be a 'church' member there is truth to be faced here, but do not for one moment think that the purpose of this essay is to dishonour the finished work of Jesus, the Christ, that was subsequently completed by Him when He returned, as promised, in Spirit, as Christ Jesus.

In fact, the reverse is true, our purpose is to recover that which has been almost, but can never be, lost. It could be said that 'the church', 'lost the plot', but the truth is, 'it never got the memo'. In fact, as we shall see, it was, and is, impossible for 'the church' to do so.

I pray that the Spirit of God the Father and the Son that dwells in you (and everybody else, whether you or they believe it or not) would strengthen you in heart, soul, mind, and body to read and prayerfully and carefully consider what follows.

Without equivocation or apology, what is being called for is the exposure and removal of ‘the church’ and a repudiation of the confusing and contradictory teachings that it practices because, although “they have a form of Godliness, they deny the power thereof”, and have subsequently and blindly displaced “the out called” and their especial witness and testimony to the finished and completed work of God through His Son.

Hang in there, member of ‘the church’, what is being shared here will leave you with a fresh appreciation and understanding of what God, our Father, achieved through His Son.

As with all things concerning God, it’s bigger than you or I can think.

What is NOT being called for is the abandonment of friendships and outreaches that minister to the fellowship and meet the needs of mankind, or for gatherings to meet and grow in the knowledge of God, and, if you believe in Him, to worship Him. This little essay may, at first, be difficult for some to swallow, “new wine is not pleasant to the taste”, but to understand what is written here is to enjoy a freedom and a joy that cannot be feigned or counterfeited – and it glorifies God and not the intermediating and interfering inventions of man.

Before proceeding, be further advised:

The fleshly carnal mind is terrified of liberty, it ever seeks to control or be controlled, but you are free and, although the agency of man is, and must be utilized, the truth can only be revealed to us by the Spirit.

Truly, “we have need of no man to teach us.”

Whatever is shared here, or is ever shared with you from elsewhere, must resonate in you, and bring peace to your heart and conscience, and clarity to your understanding. If not, it is not true, or it is not yet in our Father’s time for you to receive it - and only you, as His child, have the authority to make that determination. It can be confirmed by others, but it is between you and Him, we are not clones, we are all being grown together in very unique and different places.

A repeated and heartfelt prayer that is frequently invoked in ‘church’ assemblies is: “If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land.” 2 Chronicles 7:14.

This prayer, although it was given to Israel, has been carnally misappropriated by ‘the church’, but it does have an immeasurably wider, deeper, and higher spiritual application today - as does everything that pertained to Israel who were raised up to be an example to us, who are all now walking in a spiritual realm. Before invoking the above prayer, ask Father to show you if, “you have strained at gnats and swallowed camels.”

He will, in His timing, show you as lovingly and kindly as possible, but be warned, if it requires the overthrowing of a few money-changers tables, brace yourself!

What humanity is growing up and out of is ignorance, specifically the darkness of spiritual ignorance. Our battle is not against people; indeed, no one can be condemned. We, all of humanity, individually and corporately, are developing and maturing, in Spirit, not as the former and exclusively select “body of Christ” who were “the out called”, but as members of God’s all-inclusive family. Thanks to the work of God our Father through His Son, no matter what any member of mankind believed, believes, or will believe, or did, are doing, or will do, there can no longer be any charge made against any that ever were, are, or will be made, “in Their image.”

It is possible to be intelligent, educated, and to have compassion, concern, and love for humanity and for yourself, and still be an ‘id’-iot. That is, to not fully know who you are, to be stup-‘id’ (to be stupored), to not know your true ‘id’-‘entity’, and to not know the identity of every member of mankind as God's children. As ignorant as we may or may not be, we, all of humanity past, present, and future are nevertheless, One in Spirit.

Jesus was amazed that Nicodemus, a respected teacher in Israel, needed to be instructed in the knowledge that, as an Israelite, in order "to see the kingdom of God you must be born again." The same requirement of being "born again" would remain true for all of humanity today, except that we are this side of the finished work of the last Adam, Who as Jesus Christ on the cross, and through His work as Christ Jesus when He returned in Spirit to judge Israel in 70 AD, completed His work and subjected everything that had been given to Him, that is, all of His Kingdom/Israel, and Himself, to God the Father. As Jesus declared, "I am sent only to the scattered sheep of the lost house of Israel", and having gathered them, He subjected them, and Himself, to Father.

The terrible judgments of "the Old Covenant" that condemned Israel, as the chosen nation, under the law (with the exception of those who had been, “called out”, into “a New Covenant” that was given only to them by the gift of faith) cannot be imputed to anyone who has never been under the law, besides, to do so would be to deny the fulfilled work of Jesus Christ on the cross where He declared to Israel, “It is finished.” The requirements of the ‘Old’ or ‘New’ covenants cannot be imputed to anyone.

“This is a trustworthy saying that deserves full acceptance. That is why we labour and strive because we have put our hope in the living God, who is the Saviour of all people, and *especially of those who believe.” 1 Timothy 4:9&10.

*“especially”, does NOT mean ‘exclusively’, it means, ‘firstly, foremostly’. Salvation from the curses of the law and death came to the Jew first, and then all of Israel were saved from the law by resurrection, and then, and now, all of humanity are saved, not from the law but from death because “the last enemy, death” has been abolished.

Everybody who ever was “under the law” have been judged, but we who have lived since Israel have never been under the law, we are “without law.” Being an outlaw, in love, is to be liberated – to love!

We are not and never were covenant Israel, we do not need to be “born again” - we are “born from above.” At the very moment of our physical conception we became God’s expression as His child in the earth. In His foreknowledge and purpose, He “knows us by name in our mother’s womb.” However, although we all share this miracle of life together, it must be remembered, in all humility, that we all also share in something else. We were, and are, all born into ignorance.

Allow me to remind myself as a messenger ... we are all born into ignorance!

It’s not our fault that we were born into ignorance, and it was not an accident that we were born into ignorance, you were, from the beginning, in His all-wise and all-loving purpose, conceived by God to be a helplessly dependent little bundle of joy in a loving Father’s care - a miraculous event that is no more, or less, difficult for God to accomplish than a virgin birth.

Forgive a gross understatement, we all have a lot to learn.

Even the most learned and the most enlightened of us, in the very moment that we “put off corruption and put on incorruption, and this mortal puts on immortality” shall transcendently, and very delightfully, be relieved of any haughty, pretentious, and proud religious posturing.

We shall enter a state that is beyond the limited comprehension of this “body of our humiliation”, and we shall also realize that it is impossible for us, all together, to ever overestimate the love and the goodness of God. We will all finally realize who we inherently really are in a measure that is beyond our finite mortal frames to fully comprehend.

In passing, there won't be anybody having the last word, or of saying, “I told you so.”

Perhaps one of the greatest gifts that we can give, should we be so privileged, is to come alongside each other and, right or wrong, honestly share from our hearts what we believe to be true. However, love is not about finding out who has the most knowledge.

Another great and helpful gift to share is being able to say, “I don’t know.”

The English word ‘mystery’ comes from the Greek, ‘musterion’, it shares the same root ‘muo’ from which we get the word ‘mute’. It means, ‘to seal’, as in the lips, ‘to zip the lip’, to be silent, ‘to keep a secret’. Through misuse, and the subterfuges of misinformation and disinformation to which we are all subjected, the word mystery has come to take on the meaning that something is unknowable, unsolvable, an enigma. “It’s a mystery” is an unacceptable answer, a secret is understandable – it’s just that you have not yet been told the secret.

My credit card has a simple 4-digit access code that, when used, will open you up to some of my riches, it is easily understood, it is not a mystery – it is a secret. If someone tells you that something is a mystery, understand, that for whatever reason, they are telling you that they don’t know the secret in question. Beware those who peddle in mysteries.

It's OK to not know a secret, but know this, there are no mysteries in the universe, it’s just that there are a lot of secrets. God desires to be known, it's just that in growing in the knowledge of Him, and who we are in Him, we are plumbing depths that are off the charts in every direction. Sure, it calls for trust but is that not what we are here to learn? "It is the glory of God (as Father) to conceal a matter, but it is the glory of kings to search out a matter." In the fullness of time, and we are embracing eternal verities here, you will be given to know the secret. We will know who killed JFK.

The mortality rate worldwide is presently 116 persons per minute. In round figures, every second, with every tick of the clock, a couple of us are finding ourselves happily at home.

Mother earth is a baby machine!

Chapter 5

A question of identity

While life is teeming and streaming ‘upwards’ and all around us we all, to some degree, remain ignorant. “If anyone imagines that he knows something, he does not yet know as he ought.” Perhaps the most ignorant of us are the ones who think that they know a lot - or even think that they know it all!

Dare we admit that we are all at least one french-fry short of a happy meal, that we are all, at least, just a little bit stup'id? None of us have ‘arrived’, nobody shall ever have the last word, we have an eternity before us, we are ageless, and we all need every one of us to enjoy God and each other. We have barely begun. Here’s a quick tip that helps me, in my more forgetful, stupid, and self-righteous moments, to remember that I am a child of God:

I simply look around, and when I see the very next person come into view, I remind myself that they are a child of God.

“You’d better recognize your brother, everyone you meet.” ‘Instant karma’, John Lennon.

OK, with all of that said, let’s turn to the shedding of some light upon the circumstances that long ago led to the taking advantage of hearts that were ignorant of God. Let’s see how the attempted cornering of the lucrative market of religion began and expose the vain and ridiculous effort to leverage God and His universe.

In order for the dark little enterprise called ‘the church’ to gain a foothold, something had first to be done to obfuscate or obliterate “the out called” from the memory of mankind.

What is commonly referred to as ‘the Old Testament’, apart from portions of Daniel and Ezra that were originally transcribed in Aramaic, was totally written in Hebrew. These writings were completed about 400 years before the birth of Jesus. What is commonly referred to as ‘the New Testament’ was written in, or came to us through, the Greek language. After the destruction of Israel and their dispersion, their culture lost its place of preeminence, and Hebrew rapidly became a dead language that was replaced by the then predominantly Greek culture and language.

However, the letters that were addressed to those of “the out called” throughout the Middle East, and that were to become the Greek canon of ‘the New Testament’, were not gathered and canonized for over 300 years - and when they were, it was by the Roman Catholic, wait for it ... Church.

There is an Italian proverb, “traduttore traditore”, ‘to translate is to betray’. It was during this time that, in what we shall charitably call an error of ignorance, the term, “the out called”, was, for no good reason, sinisterly translated as, and displaced by, ‘the church’.

The descriptive, distinctive, accurate, and easily understood term “the out called” (from the Greek “ekklesia”), was unnecessarily mistranslated as, ‘kuriakos’, and, thus, the purpose and fulfillment of the completed mission of “the out called” was obscured or negated. In every one of its occurrences in the English versions of the scriptures the perfectly understandable phrase, “the out called”, has been, in all 80+ of its instances, replaced by the erroneous and misleading term ‘the church’.

The next time, or if it is yet to be your first time, that you open the scriptures, whenever you see the word ‘church’ or ‘the church’, read “out called” or “the out called.” Better still, strike out ~~‘the church’~~ and re-insert, “the out called.”

Through the fraudulent replacement of the term “the out called” the meaning and distinct purpose of “the out called” was thus effectively expunged from all, or almost all, commonly used English versions of the bible. This is evidenced today in the not-quite-so-inspired English (per)versions of the Bible, including the revered King James Version, by the complete removal of the perfectly understandable, God-given, and descriptive phrase, “the out called”, and its substitution by the insertion of the barefaced, unscriptural, false, unfounded, unsound, invented, fictitious and nebulous expression, ‘the church’.

Irrespective of the motivation for the mistranslation, the completely unnecessary insinuation of the unscriptural term ‘the church’ has stuck. The institution formed by the rebranding of “the out called” to ‘the church’ has become firmly established in the thinking of mankind - and it’s done good business! The displacement of the name and testimony of “the out called”, and their unique and true purpose, has resulted in the concealment of the God-given birthright of all humanity.

It has kept many ignorant of our union with God, and of the unity of all humanity (past, present, and future) with each other, that was delivered to us through the finished work of the “last Adam”, “the Son of God.”

Incredibly, and outrageously, the very “gift of faith” exclusively given to “the out called” has, in the circles of so-called, ‘evangelical Christianity’, been seized and so distorted as to be now considered as the vital and necessary ‘work’ required for ‘salvation’! In their own eyes, such deceived ‘believers’ believe that they are the arbiter and finisher of, and are responsible for, their own personal salvation - rather than it being that God, the Creator of all things, as a loving Father, is the One totally responsible for the welfare of all His handiwork. It is inevitable that this, the proud elitist nonsense of ‘the church’, ever divides into continuously fractious, splintering, deadly religion(s) where childlike (and not childish) simple trust in the ability and love of God has been replaced by the mysterious demands conjured up by vying cults/cabals/denominations.

“The out called” were called out of Israel, they were not, and are not, as ‘the church’ claims, called out of the world. The moving of these goalposts has allowed ‘the church’ to advance the traditionally but erroneously accepted belief that they, and we, must be called out from humanity in order to be ‘saved’, when in fact, we already are saved - all of us! Over the intervening centuries since the Son of God completed His work, countless numbers of those drawn to Jesus’ loving, selfless testimony (He came to show us, and glorify, our Father) have been deceived by the sleight of hand of an unnecessary mistranslation, and have fallen under the interfering, and absolutely imaginary influences and dictates of the delusory entity of ‘the church’ who, in blind ignorance, believe themselves to be above and (as some believe, eternally!) separated/holy from the rest of humanity.

This divisive, sectarian (meaning, ‘us versus them’) elitist presumption is precisely what Jesus warned against when He said, “Beware the leaven of the Pharisees and the Sadducees.” No matter how humble someone may appear to be, or want to be, leaven puffs up with elitist pride those that are contaminated by it. This religious vanity denies the finished work of God accomplished through Jesus Christ on the cross, and the work later completed when He returned, as He prophesied, in Spirit as Christ Jesus to judge His Kingdom, the work that was witnessed and recorded by “the out called.”

The Presence of the “Prince of peace” attested to by “the out called” stands against, and is directly opposed by, the invented concoction of ‘the church’ and its multitude of little princes. Be warned, “the prince that lacks understanding is also a great oppressor of the people.” Religious princes preside over their large or small principalities through the implementation and enforcement of religious principles.

Hence, we suffer the interminable moralizing of ‘how-to’ messages, rather than enjoy the Singular ‘Who to’ message that elevates, liberates, and unites mankind as One, in the One. Thus, the scriptures are presented as an impossible instruction manual on how to live worthy of, and/or earn, and/or deserve, a future of unconditional and limitless love - and not as the revelation of overwhelming love, that enlivens and enlightens us from the inside out.

The explicit warnings of Jesus have been ignored. He issued a rebuke to the Pharisees and scribes by saying to them, “You make the word of God of none effect through your traditions, and many like things do ye.” Furthermore, the imposture of ‘the church’ has been reinforced by the defying of yet another admonition of Jesus to “call no man father”, and so ‘the church’ subjects its observers, to this day, to the double-jeopardy of invoking the teachings of those who are now revered as:

‘church’ + ‘fathers’ = ‘church fathers’.

Now, multiply this folly with centuries of tradition!

‘church fathers’ x “traditions” = religion.

For those who shelter behind the nauseatingly clever trope bestowed upon congregations from the pulpit, “You don’t go to church, you are the church!”, one word ... Hah!

You may be a member of ‘the church’ or whatever other elitist separatist label you may like to call yourself, but you are not, and cannot ever be, “the out called.”

Nevertheless, for any persons who consider themselves to be, in, of, or under the auspices of ‘the church’, God’s grace does remain sufficient for them. However, after reading this, maybe it has now become your privilege to tell them ‘The Good News’ that they have, and always have had, ‘eternal security’. But be careful to not start another denomination!

Isn’t it amazing to think what the corruption of just one word, “ekklēsia”, can do?

Chapter 6

What the hell?

Scripture has a couple of special names that describe being ignorant of God. In Hebrew, it is, “Sheol”, in Greek, it is, “Hades.” Both terms horribly appear in common popular English versions of the Bible as, ‘hell.’

The Hebrew “Sheol”, means, ‘to ask, quizzically’. It shares the same root, “shaul”, as the name of Israel’s first king, “Saul”, who was ‘asked’ for by the people of Israel. Saul proved to be a bad king, but Israel persisted in asking for “a king like the other nations” and so they got all that his reign brought with it. They, quite literally, in ignorance, ‘asked for it’ because they, as the chosen people, had forgotten that they already had THE Supreme Ruler, the One Who rules above every king and kingdom, God.

“Hades”, is the Greek equivalent of the Hebrew, “Sheol.” It literally means, “the unseen.” In the context of scripture, both of the terms, “Sheol” and “Hades” mean, to be spiritually blind, to be ignorant of God and of His nature.

Thanks to vengeful religious church zealots, who are ignorant of the finished work of God through His Son, the false teachings and doctrines of revered, seductive, vain-glorious ‘church’ traditions and teachings have foisted the burden of the impossible ‘response-ability’ of a spurious religious ‘salvation’ upon mankind. This truly empty nonsense has been backed up and enforced, and reinforced, by the shunning of those who do not capitulate to the legalistic dictates of men who issue dire threats of damnation, ‘church’ excommunication, death, and eternal torture (or as threatened by more squeamish religionists) a kinder gentler ‘annihilation’!

These wicked notions have been constantly and mercilessly applied by ‘the church’ through the centuries and have been popularized by ‘church’ sponsorship of such fantastical theatrical productions as, ‘The Divine Comedy’ and its visions of ‘hell’ (Signor Danté must have eaten some really bad pizza the night before). The ongoing and cartoonish and ridiculously lurid notions of ‘hell’, promoted by the likes of Walt Disney and Hollywood, have continued to reinforce ‘church’ teachings that associate God with eternal torture and punishment in a fiery inferno - works of fiction to frighten children that are laughably repugnant to the sane of mind and tender of heart.

‘The farce is strong with these ones’, so be cautious as you share the truth because some poor religiously demented individuals and denominations take this infernal nonsense very seriously.

There is one other word that is translated as ‘hell’ in the scriptures, and that is the Hebrew word, “Gehenna.” Unlike, “Sheol”, and, “Hades”, that both describe the state of spiritual ignorance of God, “Gehenna” was an actual physical place that had a geographical location, “the valley of Hinnom.” In Jesus’ day, it was the Jerusalem city rubbish dump, that was inhabited by ever-present worms and ever-burning methane. This was the very place that Jesus directly warned Israel against, and, true to His word, it was where the carcasses of the Israelites who died in the siege and fall of Jerusalem were cast into to be ignobly, but sanitarily, disposed of.

That is why, when He surveyed Jerusalem, “Jesus wept.”

If anyone should threaten you with, ‘hell’, ask them to which one they might be referring, and understand that if they are a, ‘turn-or-burn’, ‘hellfire-and-brimstone’, devotee, they will also likely have been additionally confused and inflamed by the term, “the lake of fire”, which was a place of spiritual cleansing, “And the devil that deceived them was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone, where the beast and the false prophet are, and shall be tormented day and night until *the end of the ages of the ages. Then Death and Hades were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death.”

* “the end of the ages of the ages”, were the end of the covenantal ages of the ages of Israel, NOT the end of mankind - or the end of the earth - or the end of the universe. All of scripture was written by and addressed directly TO Israelites and can only be properly understood in that context. However, it was written FOR all of mankind to learn from – so, even though they have been tampered with, don’t throw your bibles out, and don’t throw the babe of Bethlehem out with the bathwater. “It is the glory of God to conceal a matter, but it is the glory of kings to search a matter out.”

The retributive and vengeful threats of religion have been further stoked by the addition of, “For God did not spare the angels who sinned but casting them to the pit He delivered them in chains of darkness, being kept for judgment.” This spiritual jail (theologically named, ‘Tartarus’) explicitly does not include humanity. It was reserved for spiritual beings who were also judged in the judgment at the climactic end of Israel in 70 AD.

Religion confuses, ‘hell’, ‘Sheol’, Hades’, ‘Gehenna’, *‘the lake of fire’, and ‘the pit reserved for angels who sinned’, and treats them, at will, as synonymous and/or interchangeable expressions that leave the carnal mind swirling in the cauldron of a religious witches brew!

*‘the lake of fire’ was for purification, where love cleanses and enlightens all that is corrupt and dark.

 “carnal mind”, Greek, carne = meat, meaty, (e.g., carnivore = meat eater), “carnal mind” = meat head.

Additionally, as shall be demonstrated later, the ancient Hebrew language and culture is full of reoccurring poetic metaphors, similes, parables, and symbology, especially in the prophetic and apocalyptic passages. The misunderstanding of the context of the original meaning of the Divine oracles, when further confused with 'hellish' misconceptions, supposedly sentence the ignorant to a tortuous mental dungeon, a repository of unseen, unthinkable, imaginary darkness. Such is the ignorance of God - a.k.a., religion!

Hell is not a future place of retribution and punishment; it is the present place of spiritual ignorance. Come out, come out, wherever you are.

"The truth is incontrovertible. Malice may attack it, and ignorance may deride it, but in the end, there it is." Winston Churchill.

Chapter 7

Take my hand, I'm a stranger in paradise

Now would be a good time to observe that, despite all of the blessings that he enjoyed, Adam is never recorded as expressing gratitude, or of giving thanks, or of offering worship to God in the Garden of Eden. Adam was the poor little rich kid who had it all but did not know what he had. He was in a spiritual 'white-out' of blissful ignorance, and as a created being, he only had relative knowledge and did not possess the absolute knowledge of his Creator, "God knows the end from the beginning." Adam had nothing to compare and relate his original state to. In order for him to appreciate what he had, and Who his Father was, and who he was, he necessarily had to suffer the experience of losing it to value it.

"You don't know what you've got 'til it's gone."
'Big Yellow Taxi', Joni Mitchell.

Adam's ignorance, when the slanderer tempted him by impugning the character of God, is why, although he knew that God was the Creator of all the blessings that he enjoyed, that he could not trust God. There was so much about God that he just didn't know, and that's why it's called, 'Hi(s)tory', and that is why we need to live it out - and it's a way bigger story than any, or all of us together, can imagine. Being the first of his kind, Adam had little, if any, concept of fatherhood, or of God as Father, and the curse of death, as planned from the beginning, consequently fell upon him and all of his progeny.

Jesus, being intrinsically One with the Father, was subsequently sent 4,000 years later, into another garden, Gethsemane, where, sweating blood, He three times petitioned His Father for a way out of His immeasurably awful and impending predicament. Perhaps, it could be mused, Jesus hoped to benefit from a little crisis management, or maybe from a hitherto unknown backup plan that had been reserved and was waiting in the wings? Nevertheless He, unlike Adam, demonstrated His absolute and complete trust by obediently declaring:

“Father, not My will, but Your will be done.”

“Father, not My will, but Your will be done.”

“Father, not My will, but Your will be done.”

Blame it on who you like, but make no mistake, Jesus’ crucifixion was His Father’s idea. His coming was not, ‘Plan B’, God’s plan has always been to have, “*many sons” (Life begets life), so the Son of God maintained His testimony of glorifying His Father by fully trusting Him to the bitter end.

Subsequently, “God the Father raised him from the dead”, and in doing so, thereby fully revealed Jesus true identity, His power through Jesus, and endorsed Jesus’ finished work. As we shall see, all of mankind have been redeemed from the curse of death.

* “many”, how many is “many” to a limitless and eternal God?

$$\infty \div 1/? = \infty$$

Infinity divided by any fraction equals Infinity

This is a mighty big plan.

“sons”, “There is neither male nor female in Christ Jesus.”

The so-called ‘fall of man’, is an unscriptural ‘church’ expression that consigns people to a state of unworthiness, shame, guilt, and fear! We need a little ‘re-edjumentation’ folks! Adam was set-up, he never had a chance, he was never meant to have a chance, and that is why Jesus, as well as being sent to Israel as their King, was also sent to all of mankind as, “the last Adam, a quickening Spirit.” This is just a peek into the great conspiracy of love that embraces us all, the conspiracy of love that began in God the Father and the Son.

“There has to be a Son, for there to be a Father, there has to be Father, for there to be a Son, that’s the way it has always been, since the world begun.”

You now know how a perfect, eternal, and limitless Being reproduces.

Selah! That’s a little bit of Hebrew, it means cool your jets, take a breath, think on that awhile.

Chapter 8

How to live the sin-free life

Before Adam ate the fruit of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, he was warned in the most accurate of our English translations, that on the day that he transgressed, “to die you are dying.” This was the only law that, without his consultation, permission, or agreement, Adam was given in the garden.

He ate the fruit, and he brought a curse upon himself, and creation, and he began to die and eventually He died. In dying Adam paid the penalty and satisfied/fulfilled the breaching of that Sovereignly imposed law for himself – and so has, and so does, everybody else who has died from Adam.

Jesus did not lift that curse off us, our dying is the only way that the curse is lifted off each of us, but one significant problem remains, once dead, we remain dead, and there is nothing we can do about it.

However, “the things which are impossible with men are possible with God.”

Now, “He (Jesus) is the atoning sacrifice for our sins” (that is, the sins of “the out called”) being the sins against the laws of the ‘Old Covenant’, “and not only for ours (the out called), but also for the sins of the whole world (of Israel).” 1 John 2:1-2. The word “world” is taken from the Greek, “kosmos”, and it means “orderly arrangement”, it is not a description of the whole planet earth as an astrological body. In the context of what John wrote, who was an apostle to the circumcision/Israel, it meant that Jesus atoned not only for “our sins” (the sins of, “the out called”), but “the sins of the whole world/kosmos” (meaning, all of those under the Israelite covenantal system from its inception under Jacob/Israel until the end of Israel as the chosen nation under law).

Jesus’ atoning sacrifice was only for all those under the Israelite covenantal system. To not understand this is to fall prey to the unscriptural ‘church’ teaching that humanity has been born with, ‘a fallen nature’, yet another oft spouted but unscriptural phrase. From this religious fallacy, ‘the church’, gets to label everybody who will suffer their religious nonsense to be, “a sinner saved, by grace, through faith” (which, as we have seen, was the exclusive and especial gift given to, “the out called”). Those that, out of ignorance, submit to this religious judgment come under a cloud of false guilt, shame, fear, and unworthiness, and are thereby more easily subdued and controlled by the haughty promoters and practitioners of religion.

The reason that we “fall short of the glory of God” is not because of our nature, because our conscience, if it has not been seared, wants to do the right thing. What we are hindered by is the corruption of death “working within our members.”

Selah.

Israelites, as members of the chosen nation, by violating the law given to them (if they broke one law, they broke the whole law) had every reason to feel guilt, shame and fear for breaking covenant with God - unless, of course, they were amongst, “the out called”, and had therefore been given the gift of faith in their Saviour that saved them from the curses of the law delivered by Moses to Israel.

The curses on all Israelites under the law were atoned for by Jesus' sacrifice. However, if they were not in "the out called" they were judged and they paid for their sins against the law in the tribulation of the massacres that culminated in 70 AD that conclusively and finally marked the end of Israel's age as God's chosen nation.

However, as previously mentioned, they, along with all of humanity, were left with a small problem. Everybody, including "the called out", that had died remained helplessly and hopelessly dead.

What to do?

Jesus paid the price for all of the nation of Israel's sins under the law and deserves their worship, but they, and we, can only worship Him because, in trusting His Father, He joined humanity in death and was resurrected by, "God the Father Who raised Him from the dead." Galatians 1:1.

Jesus Christ, the Son of God, was raised from the dead as Christ Jesus, “the last Adam a life-giving Spirit.” In so doing He became “the firstborn from among the dead.” Colossians 1:18. He, as the last Adam, conquered “the last enemy, death” by implicitly trusting His Father and, as He had already declared and demonstrated to Israel, He, being One with His Father and “only doing what He saw His Father do”, was the Resurrection and the Life.

Having subjected all that He had subjected to Himself, including “the last enemy, death”, He presented His Kingdom (all Israel), and Himself, to Father, and God became, “All in all.” This is covered, in more depth, later.

Even as all humanity that had died or will die because of the first Adam we, since 70 AD, are now all in the last Adam. Our bodies are mortal (subject to death) our bodies die, however we are Spirit.

“For if by the one man’s offense *many died, much more the grace of God and the gift by the grace of one Man, Jesus Christ, abounded to *many.”

*“many”, means everyone means ‘everyone/all’ with the exclusion of the two protagonists cited.

“O death, where is thy sting, O grave where is thy victory?” 1 Corinthians 15:55.

That which is mortal, our flesh, must die. However, we are Spirit, and since 70 AD nobody in the flesh is now under covenant law. Again, we are not, and never were under covenant law as Israel was.

Welcome to the sin-free life!

A quick word about, “blood sacrifice.” Scripture begins at the beginning, “In the beginning God created ...”, the whole book is the unfolding story of Who God is, and of His relationship with mankind, and who we really are, as His children, through the revelation of our Father through Jesus/Christ/Jesus.

Say it again: It’s Hi(s)tory.

Love is a giving thing, love demands sacrifice, the first creature to die was the animal that was killed to clothe/cover Adam and Eve. This bloody sacrifice, as a token, in mankind's ignorance and infancy, represented the terrible, utterly destructive, and all-destroying consequence of falling short of the perfection of God, and symbolizes the absolute extremity to which perfect love must go to recover it - to the death!

Oh, don't forget, that first animal that was sacrificed was the Creator's creature to do with as He pleased, and He knew He was "the Resurrection." Always was, always will be. No problem!

Also, bear in mind that Jesus, "was the Lamb slain before the foundation of the world." The 'more-than-antidote' was in place before Adam existed, and before Adam transgressed. Mankind began, "a little lower than the angels", but through the evil of death and the love of God and the power of resurrection all of mankind became "the sons of God."

Death, the end of our prescribed and very limited finite existence on earth, through resurrection, transcends us into the realization of the fullness of our infinite and immortal existence. God, without our human permission, is subjecting us all to a highly instructive and divine reproductive process. The birth of a baby requires the bloody severance of the biological union of a fetus with its mother. A newborn is no longer solely reliable for nutrition and oxygen from its mother, it becomes an autonomous, self-sustaining, air-breathing entity, but it is born blind, until its eyes are opened and learn to focus, and it is ignorant of its 'id'-'entity'. Also, note that in the law given to Israel, an animal was to be sacrificed by being hung upside-down and its throat slit because this was the most painless way to kill an animal. The very same law also informs us that "the soul is in the blood", so we can be assured that animals have souls, and that we shall see them, and our pets, along with all living things, again.

The fact that some Christians maintain that in the future blood sacrifices will be reinstated is an incredible testament to how dark the spiritual blindness of religion is.

Again, welcome to the sin-free life. The only sin (Hebrew, 'khata' = 'to miss the mark') is to believe that you sin – and that's been taken care of!

However, in the meantime do try and behave yourself, it's the only loving thing to do.

Chapter 9

Right between the eyes

While writing this, I became increasingly aware that it was replete with repetition. Nevertheless, I found myself obliged to persist in repeating the themes presented here, and I also felt obliged to stick with the grammatical device of putting “the called out” inside inverted commas, and to treat the false expression ‘the church’ with a similar but lesser emphasis.

I am sorry for interrupting the flow of sometimes longer and convoluted sentences, and perhaps making you, dear reader, stop and think, and read, and re-read, and think again. (Actually, to be honest, I am not sorry!!!).

Blame the repetitions on my clumsy attempt to ‘push back’ on our being, ‘dumbed down’. Although these thoughts may be unfamiliar and require a little fresh thought and reconsideration, they are not ‘rocket science’. An old running coach of mine once remarked, “Ken might be slow, but he’s not stupid.”

Those of you who are better versed and quicker than me, thanks for bearing with what, to you, may be somewhat tedious and pedantic.

Also, please think of the repetitious nature of this writing as the defiant and determined raising of a standard against the numbing flood of hundreds, and hundreds, and hundreds of years of religious brainwashing.

Dear reader, “Yea, and verily, I saith unto thee, ‘the church’, sucketh, and it sucketh hard.” Thank you very much for bearing with this interruption.

“It takes much longer to go up north the slow way.” Ian Dury and the Blockheads.

Chapter 10

The oligarchs of religion

The darkness of ignorance indulged in by the oligarchs of religion is the evil root that manifests in, dominates, and arbitrates in the ‘country clubs’ of today, and in all ‘country clubs’ that have existed throughout all human history, with, of course, the honourable exception of that remarkable and Divine bunch, “the out called.” The oligarchs of religion are the secretive arbiters that form the conniving inhuman cliques and cabals that subvert and corrupt the good order of each and every lawful form of government - and thereby oppress mankind.

“All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players upon it.” Act 2, Scene 7, ‘As You Like It’, William Shakespeare.

Drum roll, please. Ladies and gentlemen, entering stage left, allow me to introduce the most wretched actors in the theatre of humanity who blindly play out their especially sinister, and not to be envied, roles as villains in the great drama of history:

THEOLIGARCHS!

These are the dudes who censor, instruct, and definitively tell you who God is, and how to get right with Him, rather than encourage you that you are wonderfully loved just as you are, and that you should increasingly learn to listen to that “still, small voice” in your heart - and not to their arbitrarily selective pickings from off, “the tree of the knowledge of good and evil.”

The bald-faced, or clandestine, authoritarianism of the theoligarchs is where your common-or-garden, yacht-sailing, oligarchs get their inspiration from.

It is through the self-glorifying religious fiction of ‘the church’ that God’s intimate association with mankind, and our unity with Him and each other, has been, in His timing, and for His purpose, hindered.

“Why?”, you may cry.

Remember, He wants “many sons”, and He has all the time in the world to have them, and beyond! There is a reason why we can’t help but love the boundless optimism of Buzz Lightyear!

We are told, “God’s ways are not our ways, His thoughts are not our thoughts, His thoughts are far above our thoughts.” In its blindness ‘the church’ has horribly and insidiously sought to put God in a box (the 3 and 4 dimensional boxes of space and time) and thus divided/ carved up humanity - and it has done so in the name of an all-loving God!

The self-enthronment of ‘the church’, and all of its vain pretensions, is the very seat of ignorance, and it is from there that the deceptive imagination and misrepresentations of God are fostered. The teachings of ‘the church’ question, or fail to uphold, the inviolable essence and fullness of the goodness of God’s Presence and nature. However, we must be kind, ‘the church’ can’t help it; it hardly knows Who He really is - which is common to all mortal/ carnal thinking, but it’s the pretending or thinking that you know, or can measure, or limit, how good He is that causes all the problems, schisms, and factions that divide humanity. Out of the vacuous ‘hellish’ chasm of darkness that belittles, trivializes, and slanders the character of God, issues the evil lip-service of faint praise.

‘The church’, does not, and cannot, believe the total victory of God through His Christ.

This void of understanding has given ‘the church’ license to dare to deem itself to be ‘sacred’ and indulge itself in the presumptuousness of high-minded, ridiculous, elitist, self-righteous, moralization, and has emboldened it to blithely pronounce its ludicrous, empty, fearful, and damnable threats on mankind, and what is worse, represent God, our Father, as an insecure, petty, distant, unforgiving, vengeful, capricious and malevolent monster. This has maintained, and perhaps deepened, a state of ignorance in many who continue to long for, or despair of hearing, truly ‘good news’.

Consequently, ‘the church’ has understandably provoked a reaction in those members of humanity who are repulsed by the silly arrogance of the vain-glorious, divisive, separatist, cultish messages of its teachings that discourage humanity from enjoying God, and each other, and obliges them in their need, to entrench themselves in their own 'secular' ignorance and resort to the equally impoverished, empty, and Godless notions of 'humanism'. 'Secular humanists', have their fair share of theoligarchs too, because in their ignorance, just like 'church religionists', they desire (despite their sometimes virulent, atheistic protestations to the contrary) spiritual fulfillment, peace, and harmony - but both the 'sacred' and the 'secular' religions have yet to realize and enjoy it.

"Religion is the opiate of the masses." Karl Marx.

Yep, but, "Humanism is the religion of them asses."

Make no mistake, all 'sacred' and 'secular' camps are dogmatically religious and full of multitudinous commandments/ doctrines/ shahada/ principles ...

that are enforced and implemented by their rabbis/ pastors/ imams/ professors/ gurus ...

in the confines of their synagogues/ churches/temples/ ashrams/ schools/ seminaries/ madrasa/colleges/ universities ...

and all of them fail to recognize that the person of God, through His Son, is the Oneness/ The Singularity that their hearts long for.

These institutions only further confuse and darken humanity through their own peculiar brand of ‘sacred’ or ‘secular’ religious ignorance. Thus, the various crusading champions of the ‘sacred’ and the supposedly enlightened luminaries of ‘secularism’ oppose each other from the polarized ends of the insane and warring continuum of religion.

BTW, in order to do good business, they both need each other. Can you say, ‘Pharisees’ (who believed in the resurrection) and ‘Sadducees’ (who didn’t)?

The work of God that His Son, Jesus Christ in the flesh, finished when He lived and died as the sacrifice for the sins of His people during His first advent, was completed when He returned as Christ Jesus, in Spirit, to judge His people in His second advent. Then, Jesus, having resurrected all of Israel, presented them to His Father Who then resurrected all those that ever were (prior to 70 AD) made in the image of God. Thereafter, knowing that “God is love”, and that “God never changes”, and “is no respecter of persons”, and “cannot deny Himself”, we can, by grace, trust that all of us, past, present, and future are One, and that, contrary to religion, we are all “accepted in the beloved.”

That was an action-packed paragraph, so you might need to take a deep breath and read it again.

There is nothing for us to ‘work for’/ ‘attain to’. To trust this is to trust in God. It is this trust, (Personified in the garden of Gethsemane) that pleases God, and that pleases any father.

Unconditional love, the “love that never fails”, by definition, cannot impose conditions or fail. It cannot be earned. To think so is ‘to miss the mark’ = ‘sin’ ... and, again, if you have read this far, you know that even that has been taken care of!

All and any attempts at being spiritual are self-defeating, because we are Spirit. You cannot make yourself to be what you already are. We, all those made in the image of God, are not humans having a spiritual experience, we are learning that we are One in Spirit, being wonderfully manifest through a limitless and limitlessly diverse variety of human expressions and experience. All efforts to be what you are, are just a religious show.

All religious posturing and resistance is futile.
“Vanity of vanities, saith the Preacher.”

Every one of us are vital and very necessary expressions of God, Who is Spirit, Who has Fathered and is Fathering us all.

God simply would not be God without you.

Whatever any of us have believed or have not believed in the past, or whatever we did or did not do in the past; or whatever we now, or in the future believe, or whatever we now, or in the future, do or do not believe; we are, and shall forever remain, adored and cherished by our Father as members of

His family. We just have a lot of learning and growing-up to do. We can meet with whoever, or whenever, or wherever, or however, or with whatever frequency we do or do not like. There are no clubs to join to be a child of God ... it's actually impossible! All of mankind are the children of God - and don't forget, to refresh yourself in the knowledge that you are indeed a child of God, you simply need to remember to recognize that every one of us is a child of God.

Although the above is shocking to the overbearing, cloistered, echo-chamber, of the carnal religious mind (mindlessness!), what has just been proclaimed is, "the glorious liberty of the sons of God" - and it is yours to enjoy whether you believe it or not. We are not to be governed and driven by fear, guilt, and shame, but by overwhelming grace and love.

However, if you do not yet believe, or have forgotten this, then you are free, in the understanding and forbearance of our Father, to enjoy 'phony-baloney-plastic-banana-goodtime-rock-'n-roll, old-time religion':

‘re’ - a prefix, indicating a repetition, e.g., re-member, re-turn, re-lax. ‘To go back to’.

‘lig’ - ligare, Latin, ‘to bind’ e.g., lig-ature, lig-ament. ‘To tie down’.

‘ion’ - a suffix, ‘an action or condition’.

‘re-lig-ion’ – ‘to go back to, or remain, in a state of bondage’.

Take your pick, knock yourself out, have a helluva good time.

See you when you are finished, then we can all party together!

Chapter 11

Really good news! The evangel of Christ was the door to the family of God

The evangel, the gospel, the good news of Christ was purposively given, for a specific time and for a specific purpose, to and through “the out called”, and it was uniquely heard by them by grace through, “the gift of faith, and that not of yourselves, lest any should boast.”

The inspired (in-spirit-ed), supernatural, complete, and abandoned trust that “the out called” were given to uniquely enjoy was a demonstration that man can have no confidence in Himself apart from God, and that he is utterly dependent upon a faithful and trustworthy God, and that God through His Son was “the Author and Finisher” of their faith, and that mankind, individually or corporately, could not, and cannot, save itself from sin and/or death, by ‘cutting deals’ with God, or by making oaths and vows to God, or by submitting or surrendering to, or deciding for, or accepting, or otherwise

'cooperating' in any way with, God.

With the exclusive mission of "the out called" and the terrible judgment of unbelieving Israel and their glorious resurrection having been completed, the Son having re-united all Israel in Himself through resurrection, then subjected all Israel, with Himself, to our Father, and God became, "All in all."

Please read, 1 Corinthians 15:20-28, as this reveals the evangel of the Messiah of Israel being fully consummated in the all-inclusive evangel of God.

The truth does not set you free - you first need to, "know the truth, and the truth shall set you free."

The knowledge of the all-embracing good news of God has been, and will be, fiercely contested by the exclusivity of 'the church'. Make no mistake, the understanding of truth represents an existential threat to 'the church' that is founded on nothing more than a small and misleading fabrication. The truth eviscerates all of the 'castles-built-in-the-air' by 'the church', and all of its hellish imaginations, and all of its dead religious traditions, and misinformation and disinformation, and en-title-ments, and sects, and cults, and all of the ‘coven’-‘antics’ of the ‘covenants’. The teetering establishment of ‘the church’ must be blown away like chaff in the wind.

It’s either lights on or its lights out – but in the end it will be lights on!

Chapter 12

The first step to getting out of prison is realizing that you are in one.

Martin Luther called, “the Vatican the biggest whorehouse in Europe”, but the Reformation, in shattering that monolith of centralized religion, only metastasized the cancerous growth that grew out of just one little lie, ‘the church’, with the result that we are now inundated with a myriad of ‘user-friendly’ local brothels.

Despite their own exhaustive record of repeated and abysmal failure as the chosen nation Israel were upheld by the mercy of God until they were finally redeemed from the consequences of breaking the law, beginning with the faith given to, “the first fruits”, who were those who were exclusively “the out called” from amongst them. Thereafter, the temporary (holy) separation between “the out called” and their brethren (and sisteren) after the flesh, who were not “out called” (who committed the ‘sin’ of not being given, “the gift of faith”) was healed, and all of Israel were saved and reconciled from the curses of the law that they had, in the false confidence of ignorance, placed themselves under. This reconciliation was, and could Solely be, achieved by the unfailing mercy of God, and His inexhaustible love, and the unleashing of His Almighty power of resurrection over “the last enemy, death.”

Since 70 AD, there can never again be another, “out called”, company. Those who were, “the out called”, have been forever reunited with their countrymen, their brothers and sisters after the flesh, in what Jesus, as He stood stripped, whipped, beaten, and bloodied, declared to Pontius Pilate as being, “My Kingdom (that) is not of this world.”

If you were wondering what happened to the surviving members of the nation of Israel who remained on earth (both “the out called” and those who had not been called out) after the promised return of their Messiah and King in judgment in 70 AD, it’s simple. Those that survived in mortal form, whether they had been, “the out called”, or not, would have walked, knowingly or unknowingly/ignorantly right into the “new heaven and new earth” that had been promised to Israel. As stated earlier, this meant that the temporary purpose of the Holy (Separating) Spirit was no longer required, because everything was subjected to the Father, and then the Oneness of the Father and the Son, Their Spirit, the Spirit of God, filled the whole earth.

From this, it should be evident that, although there was, for a short period, a fundamental difference between those ‘Shemites’ who trusted in the finished work of Jesus Christ as the Son of God, and those ‘Shemites’ who rejected Him as their Messiah, there is no such division now. God was never, and never can be, ‘anti-semitic’. God, for about 1,700 years, was ‘pro-Semitic’, however, everybody, no matter what their bloodline is or was, are now brothers and sisters, and beloved Israel, who were raised up by an all-loving Father to provide the dark backdrop against which He could fully and exhaustively demonstrate the light of His unfailing faithfulness (the chalk-board effect), can never have their holy testimony diminished, refuted, or forgotten.

Post 70 AD, those of Israel who had been “the out called”, and remained on earth, became part of an innumerably far greater gathering. After all of Israel had enjoyed the marriage feast of the Lamb any member of the former chosen nation would have joined the new humanity (all of mankind past, present, and future) where God was, and is, “All in all”, where God is, “no respecter of persons.”

Throughout their existence, as God’s promised chosen nation, beloved Israel’s recorded history of on-going and abject failure to observe the law given through Moses, provided the contrast that revealed God’s faithfulness, righteousness, and His great love for them in their salvation, redemption, and the fulfillment to them of all the promises made to their forefathers that far exceeded any mortal expectation. They received a Kingdom prepared for them that was truly out of this world, and the holy and especially distinct and separate work of God that was accomplished in and through them, and their sufferings, shall, for God’s sake, always be remembered and honoured.

Those who walked in the truth prior to 70 AD had already had declared to them in Colossians 3:11 that amongst themselves, “the out called”, “there is neither Greek nor Jew, circumcised nor uncircumcised, barbarian, Scythian, slave nor free, but Christ is all and in all”, but after 70 AD they then walked, knowingly or unknowingly, with all of their surviving countrymen and all of humanity wherein God had become “All in all”, not only as the Almighty Creator, but the now revealed loving Father of all mankind.

It is perfectly acceptable to be a Shemite, or to not be a Shemite, because we, all of mankind, are all spiritually beyond the carnal limitations and excesses of genocidal tribalism, or any divisions. We are One in Spirit. We are brothers and sisters - forever.

If you must persist in picking sides pick the upside.

Chapter 13

Elo-him! Elo-her? ‘Elo everybody!’

The word Elohim is singular/plural and both forms of it appear in scripture simultaneously together. Prior to 70 AD, all of humanity (whether you were in and of Israel or not) were considered to be ‘sons of Adam’, and God condescended to be perceived by Israel as a separate, distinct, singular ‘Elohim’.

However, since 70 AD all of humanity (whether they know it or not) are ‘sons of God’. We are One. We have always been ‘God’s’ possession, but now we are, in Spirit (without blasphemy) in plurality, Elohim, ‘Gods’. We are all, in accord with God’s wisdom and unfolding purpose, children of God growing together in our relative stages of maturity.

That, my brothers and sisters, is the heart of this book in two paragraphs – but please stick around.

Chapter 14

Beauty is in the eye of the beholder

“A lie can travel halfway around the world before the truth can lace its boots.” Attributed to Mark Twain.

Israel was promised that at the end of their ‘world’ (Greek, ‘kosmos’ = ‘age’, ‘system’) as they knew it, there would be, “a new heaven and a new earth”, where the old (the former things of Israel) would pass away, and behold, all things become new.

Whether you have yet been given the light to trust in God, or not, don’t worry, you will, “God makes all things beautiful in its time.” At the time of writing humanity has been living in, “a new heaven and a new earth”, for 1,954 years – and counting. This spiritual reality will seem as unbelievable to some as it seemed unbelievable to Israel that their Messiah had come and was walking in their midst.

Also, consider this: the new heaven and the new earth are no longer to be perceived, as they once would have been in mankind’s infancy and minority, to be separate realms. They are one, even as we are spiritually one with Israel who, with us, are spiritually one with the Father and the Son, Who are and have always been One, and Who now live by Spirit within, what cannot ever be considered the exclusive but the now all-inclusive membership of the entire family of mankind, as One.

And, there ain't nothing anyone can do about it.

As Homer (not the Greek philosopher but the one who lives in 'Springfield') might say, much to the consternation of Ed Flanders ...

“Woo-hoo!”

Admittedly, to the limitations of the carnal mind, informed through our five natural senses, we look like a very dysfunctional 'Simpsonesque' family, but through the eyes of our loving Father (Who, “knows the end from the beginning”, Who, “calls things that are not as though they are”), we have always, and ever shall be, His, and He is ours.

We are informed in “the Unveiling of Jesus Christ”, that Jesus was, “the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world.” The carnal mind and the five senses cannot perceive this, “And they bring Him unto the place Golgotha, which is, being interpreted, ‘The place of a skull’.” The skull is the deadly carnal echo-chamber that, unaided by Spirit, imagines, plots, and schemes, all and every manner of murderous religion.

Jesus instructed His disciples to pray to our Father, “Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven.” The prayer has been answered. There ain’t no place where God, as an all-loving, long-suffering, all-understanding Father, ain’t. Pssst! ... here’s something to meditate on and enjoy, He never has been an absentee father, you have never been alone, there has always been Someone Who understands Whose you are, who you are, and why you are - and this intimacy goes far beyond our most cherished and wildest dreams.

Consider the caterpillar spinning its cocoon and dying as a caterpillar, and then emerging as a butterfly. Without seeing it could you have imagined it?

“All of creation describes (gives glimpses into) the invisible attributes of God.”

The, “out called”, the club that no one of their own volition could join, were also exclusively described as those who were, “the elect”, “the chosen by God”, “the saints”, “the vessels of honour” (and not “of dishonour”), “the scattered sheep of the house of Israel” (and not “the goats”), “the wise virgins” (and not “the foolish”), “the body of Christ”, “the 144,000”, “12,000 chosen out of the 12 tribes of Israel”, “the Israel of God”, and “the first-fruits.”

‘Church’! Hold on to your silly religious hats and caps, mitres, and crowns! All of the descriptions of “the out called”, listed in the paragraph immediately above, do NOT belong to you or anyone on earth, anymore. ‘The church’, and all the boastful, pretentious en-title-ments that are within it have, in ignorance, attempted to co-opt all of the descriptions that once solely belonged to “the out called.” Again, “the elect of God”, “the chosen by God”, “the saints”, “the vessels of honour” (and not “of dishonour”), “the scattered sheep of the house of Israel” (and not “the goats”), “the wise virgins” (and not “the foolish”), “the body of Christ”, “the 144,000”, “12,000 chosen out of the 12 tribes of Israel”, “the Israel of God”, “the first-fruits”, were all misappropriated/acquired/stolen by, ‘the church’, to puff-up/inflate the carnal manifestation of their grand and pretentious delusion, which, as stated, is no more than a divisive figment of the imagination.

For 40 years, from 27 or 30 AD, to 67 or 70 AD (historians and theologians, as usual, honestly differ on the dates – but it happened a long time ago!) “the out called”, the singular and unique generation of Israelites and their proselytes were gathered first from Judea, and then from amongst those who were the so-called ‘Gentiles’. We shall talk further about these ‘Gentiles’ later, but they included Israelites who began to be dispersed into the nations several centuries previously, beginning with the civil war of Israel, and then through the subsequent Babylonian and Assyrian invasions and captivities. Those of them who were “the out called” were known and chosen by the foreknowledge of God and endured fierce persecution. Their persecution included, “imprisonment”, “beatings”, “scourgings”, and often having to suffer the torturous death of “crucifixion”, or of being “sawn in two.” It is reported that some of them were boiled alive or otherwise later entertained the Roman masses by being fed to wild animals, but their fiercest persecutors were their own people - kinda’ like Jesus’ own people were His fiercest persecutors. Others of “the out called” were fortunate to meet a more merciful but sudden and violent end by being “stoned” or “beheaded.”

Membership in God’s ‘country club’, it turned out, was one tough gig! As they headed out on their course everything was, at first, an adventure, a relative walk in the park where Jesus was knocking down ‘holes-in-one’ with regularity - but the ‘back 9’ was murder! However, “the end of a matter is better than its beginning”, so it was by God’s grace, and God’s grace alone, that they persevered to the bitter end.

In contrast, ‘the church’ is NOT “the out called”, it is ‘in-the-stead-of’, meaning, ‘anti’ (the finished work of) Christ! It is the lumbering, overbearing, threatening giant, the carnal colossus of Christendumb. The original meaning of ‘the church’, being a fictitious and imaginary construct is, unsurprisingly, not clear, although charitably it could be ascribed to the Greek, “kuriakos”, “the Lord’s house.” Even though this sounds like a suitably pious term that gives honour to the name of Jesus, it bears no resemblance to the original meaning of, “ekklesia”, “the out called”, and, as discussed previously

... nor was it meant to.

The ‘church’ is a legend in its own mind, it is nothing to revere, literally, nothing! It is the vapid manifestation of a deception, and it is certainly nothing to fear - it is nothingness. The ‘church’ is one of the biggest hoaxes in history, the biggest is the power of death. The delusory importance of ‘the church’ continues to cast a dark imaginary religious shadow over mankind, as the ever-fractious shards and provocations of its schisms pierce and tear, rip and rend, at the very fabric of souls that are longing to know the peace, harmony, and unity that, thankfully, in God’s perfect wisdom and timing, will be fully known and universally enjoyed by all of humanity. We shall, and must know, our spiritual inheritance.

According to the ‘Center for the Study of Global Christianity’, “Estimations show there are more than 200 Christian denominations in the U.S. and a staggering 45,000 globally.” Even if these numbers are over-exaggerated, the bottom-line is that in the pursuit of truth, just two denominations are, at least, one too many. Actually, just one de-nom-nation would be one too many because, in couching itself in a separatist/elitist name, it would divide humanity.

You might ask, what could be God’s purpose in ‘the church’? Think of it as resistance training as we, humanity, journey through the pilgrimage of our allotted time into the fullness of our maturity and liberty as sons of God, and into a realm that we long and yearn for – and, unlike Adam, we shall fully appreciate. This is beyond the carnal understanding of mere mortals. No judgment or condemnation is being, or can be made against any person, past, present, or future, within or without ‘the church’. The heart-cry of this brief introduction is to encourage every member of humanity to come alongside each other as brothers and sisters.

All of us, deliberately and Sovereignly, were “born from above” into ignorance, to learn something about and value the love of God forever, and learn to trust, through suffering, in the fully revealed character of our absolutely trustworthy Father. Now you know the purpose of the evil of suffering and why Isaiah, Chapter 45:7-9 states:

”I form the light, and create darkness: I make peace, and create evil: I the Lord do all these things.

”Drop down, ye heavens, from above, and let the skies pour down righteousness: let the earth open, and let them bring forth salvation, and let righteousness spring up together; I the Lord have created it.

”Woe unto him that striveth with his Maker! Shall the broken pottery strive with the broken pottery of the earth. Shall the clay say to him that fashioneth it, What makest thou? or thy work, He hath no hands?”

This truth is repugnant to those who profess to trust God’s word but abandon it to religiously defend God’s good name, and this truth may not even begin to occur to them as a child of God for some time, perhaps not even until, “this corruption must put on incorruption, this mortality put on immortality.”

However, there, together, we shall behold the unfailing faithfulness and overwhelming love of our Father - and be amazed to plumb as one, through our shared experiences, the depths of God’s grace, and together joyfully celebrate that he who has been forgiven much, loves much.

“Y-you c-c-can’t mean th-th-them!!!” Yes, membership for all, including me, and you.

Nobody is any longer, “out called”, everybody is being called in.

Chapter 14

Gentiles, and the great unwashed

‘Gentiles’ or ‘gentiles’ is another unscriptural fabricated word that needs to be clarified because it is used by religion to convince Christians that Paul was sent to the world at large so that they, ‘the church’, could then claim that the ‘New Covenant’ was for those who never were Israel, and thus permit them to charge off on bloody crusades. (Remember, only those who had been under the ‘Old Covenant’ needed a ‘New Covenant’). The ‘church’ bases their claim to be “the out called” by either falsely including themselves in God’s election from out of “the tribes of Israel” (Calvinism), or by brazenly over-riding God’s election/choice and falsely electing/ choosing themselves into “the out called” (Arminianism).

Thus, both Calvinists and Arminianists fraudulently set themselves up as separate Divinely elitist groups from humanity, and form their differing and multitudinous religious sects, and cults. Both factions deny the all-inclusive and finished work of God through His Son. Hence, through their attempted usurpation of the “New Covenant” that was given exclusively through, and to, “the out called” of Israel, ‘the church’ picks and chooses whatever biblical precepts that mollify their consciences and further the agenda of their particular brand of club.

Think of the absurdity of ‘the church’ as it ‘heroically’ tries to give ‘the-kiss-of-life’ to a corpse.

The price for admission to any church is to accept that gilded hallmark of self-righteousness - the moralizing, condemnations of religion. All you have to do to join is simply ‘confess’ that you are “a sinner saved by grace.”

However, to be a sinner, you must be in violation of a law, Romans 5:13 says, “Sin indeed was in the world before the law was given, but sin is not imputed where there is no law.”

Only Israel was under, “Covenant law”, and that is why, as a nation, they, and they alone, fell under its curses and its judgment at the end of their age in 70

AD. However, all of mankind (including all of Israel) were under the curse of death because of the transgression of Adam, and until 70 AD they were all subject to death and the grave. However, in dying (no great feat!) although they themselves individually satisfied the penalty of the transgression of Adam, their predicament was that they remained very much spiritually dead/asleep - that is, until “the last Adam”, as Jesus Christ, began His earthly ministry in Nazareth. From that moment on, salvation from spiritual death/sleep began, by grace, through the faith of Jesus Christ, that was for forty years Solely and Sovereignly given to those who were “the out called.”

Earlier, an encouragement was made to read, 1 Corinthians 15:20-28, however, for ease of reference and examination, here it is:

- v. 20 “But Christ has indeed been raised from the dead, the firstfruits of those who have fallen asleep.
- v. 21 For since death came through a man, the resurrection of the dead comes also through a man.
- v. 22 For as in Adam all die, so in Christ all will be made alive.

v. 23 But each in turn: Christ, the firstfruits; then, when he comes, those who belong to him.

v. 24 Then the end will come, when he hands over the kingdom to God the Father after he has destroyed all dominion, authority, and power.

v. 25 For he must reign until he has put all his enemies under his feet.

v. 26 The last enemy to be destroyed is death.

v. 27 For he “has put everything under his feet.”

Now, when it says that “everything” has been put under him, it is clear that this does not include God himself, who put everything under Christ.

v. 28 When he has done this, then the Son himself will be made subject to him who put everything under him, so that God may be all in all.”

The firstfruits who died/slept were those ones who were “the out called”, who were dead/sleeping and who had died for the testimony of Jesus Christ, whose blood cried out from under the throne of God, who were spiritually alive because they were, “born again.”

Then, all of Israel, “those who belong to Him”, who had died/slept prior to 70 AD, including those who had suffered death in the “last day” because they were not “the out called”, were resurrected and spiritually reunited with their already spiritually resurrected, “out called” brethren.

Thereafter, all of Israel united as the spiritual Kingdom of Christ were, with Himself, subjected to Father (see verse 24) and, as prophesied, God became, “All in all.”

All of mankind who had died from the beginning of creation until 70 AD were saved from death/sleep by being made alive by God the Father through the Son. All those who had died/slept in Adam, who were not of Israel, were redeemed from the death they had suffered through Adam’s transgression, by Father, through, “the last Adam.”

“For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality.” 1 Corinthians 15:53.

Since 70 AD, every single person “made in Their image” whose bodies were subject to mortality but who had been, NOT “born again”, but were “born from above”, are the continuing testimony to humanity’s incapacity to save themselves from death (that is, each and every one of untold billions of us). However, at the very moment that they died, or will die (to the perception of the carnal mind), they, and we, “put on immortality.”

Yes, whether they were miscarried or aborted, they were, “known by name in the womb.” Whether they rotted in a dungeon or from disease, whether they were bayoneted, or flew through a car windshield, or were evaporated by an atomic explosion, or even if they made their bed in hell, they discovered “behold, You (God) are there.” No matter how they put off their mortality, “in the blink of an eye”, they immediately ‘found’ themselves transfigured and at home.

Dear reader, these are incredible thoughts to contemplate, and even as I write them, they take my breath away. Quite apart from it being impossible to describe the glory of what awaits us all, this is an unspeakably and gloriously profound and delightful matter to consider – and it changes everything.

Go on, take a well-deserved, “Selah”!

Observations and corrections must come, so please, don't be shy, we are in this together.

Meanwhile, let's take a deeper look at the term 'Gentiles' or 'gentiles'. By now it should not surprise you to learn that these are mistranslations that have been taken from the Hebrew, “goy'im”, or the Greek, “ethnos”, meaning ‘tribes, cultures and ethnicities’, and scripturally they can allude to both the people groups of the heathens and to, “the scattered sheep of the house of Israel.” It's a matter of context, and only the Spirit can reveal the truth to you. As mentioned previously, the Israelite 'Gentiles' were dispersed out of Israel over several centuries from the time of the civil war that followed Solomon's reign, being the division of Israel into the 10 northern tribes and the 2 southern tribes, followed by the subsequent divorcing of the 10 northern tribes by Yahweh, and the scattering of Israelites, especially the northern tribes, by the invasions and captivities of Babylon and Assyria.

The 2 southern tribes, Judah and Benjamin, who became collectively known as, ‘the Jews’, utterly despised the members of the 10 northern tribes and disparagingly considered them to be ‘goy’im’ and “in outer darkness”, because they, the 2 southern kingdoms, haughtily failed to recognize that it was only by grace and mercy that Yahweh graciously and temporarily overlooked their own failures for His Name’s sake, and to maintain His testimony in the earth, and to preserve the lineage of Jesus, “the lion of the tribe of Judah.”

Paul, his message having been rejected in Judea, was sent to those of Israel who had been ‘Hellenized’ and fallen under the influence of the surrounding Greek culture. These ones who had become “not My people” were redeemed through Christ and once again became “My people”, as was prophesied by Hosea and declared in Romans by Paul, who was the apostle to those Israelites who had become “the uncircumcision.”

The heathen, being all the other nations/gentiles on earth, that Yisra'el had originally been chosen out of as “the chosen nation”, were spiritually dead (unless they had become “out called” proselytes of Y'israel) these heathens were not gathered in by Yahweh until He was revealed, as Father of all, through the finished and completed work of the Son of God.

Be careful who you call ‘heathen’.

Chapter 15

A slap upside the meathead

A blow to the religious temples

You may be aware that Christianity, Judaism, and Muslims believe that a certain piece of real estate in Jerusalem is an especially reserved site for their own brand of religion. Well, here's some good news, since the fall of Israel's second temple in 70 AD (the first was built by Solomon, the second by Herod) believers in Christ have no need to be awaiting the return of a vengeful and angry Jesus and the building of a third temple.

Jesus said that Herod's temple, the second temple, would be leveled and that He would rebuild it in three days, however, Jesus was speaking, "of the temple of His body." Furthermore, this spiritual temple, "the temple made without hands", "the body of Christ", that testified to His Messiahship and His resurrection, was built of "living stones" who namely were "the out called."

There is no ‘third temple’ to be built. God, “Who is Spirit”, is now, “All in all”, there is no further need for us to observe the condescension, granted by God to Israel, that He ever needed a special physical place reserved for Him. In fact, He informed Samuel of this before suffering, as a father would, with Israel’s subsequent persistence in engaging in building projects.

There ain’t no place that He ain’t, there never was.

Selah!

Moving on . . .

. . . although we may have been stumbling unawares in “a new heaven and a new earth” and may have blindly been led by the blind into the dark recesses of the ditches of religious ignorance, remember that those who were, “disguised as ministers of righteousness”, were and are themselves religiously deluded - perhaps more so.

This applies not only to those who clothe themselves in ‘sacred’ robes and titles, but also to their so-called ‘secular’ equivalents who believe that they can achieve ‘enlightenment’ by pulling themselves up by the bootstraps of their own soulish attainment. Grasshopper, please take a seat, cross your legs, comfortably arrange your saffron robes, and meditate on that for an hour or two.

To my atheist friends, who remain in major denial and who may have resigned themselves to oblivion, chill! This is not an attempt to convert or convince you - there is no need. I hope that you live a great and fulfilling life, but be encouraged, ‘the Old Man in the sky’ has a really big surprise waiting for you - and you’re going to love it. The sound you hear will not be a thunderclap, it will be the noise made by a multitude happily smacking themselves in the forehead with the palm of their hands.

For my ‘church’ friends, rejoice, you cannot ‘lose your salvation’. Nothing is dependent on you, as was demonstrated through the true, “out called.” You are ‘saved’, and hopefully today you are being saved from ignorance. Everything and everyone always have been, and evermore shall be, dependent upon

God and His unquenchable love, irresistible power, and unfailing trustworthiness.

To one and all, that is why we are told to, “judge nothing before its time”, and why, it is worth repeating, that we are told in the last book of the Bible, “the Unveiling of Jesus Christ”, that Jesus is, “the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world.” The fate of mankind has never been in question.

However, as enlightenment banishes the darkness of the valley of the shadow of death from the recesses of carnal thinking, please, wherever and whenever possible, maintain, strengthen, and honour whatever loving relationships you have been given to enjoy - but not at the expense of violating your conscience.

Although, ‘the church’ is built on subtle, or not-so-subtle, imaginations of hierarchical dominance (can you say ‘pyramid schemes?!), attempts at coerced subjection do not make love impossible. God’s family flourishes on gifts of the grace of friendship.

We are all in this together, and now, if you didn’t know to do it already, let’s help each other out.

Chapter 16

His burden is not light, it has been lifted

A word to those who are dedicated to ‘church ministry’. The “out called” were told that, “the adversary himself is transformed into an angel of light, therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose *end shall be according to their works”, and they were told, “Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves.” Well, ‘the church’ has literally been ‘capitalizing’ on obsolete, defunct and fanciful, religious titles, such as:

Pastor, Bishop, Prophet, Pope, Priest, Reverend, and other various and sundry self-glorifying appellations.

*“end”, the end of the Pharisees and Sadducees, and the Aaronic priesthood came in 70 AD, whereas the end of today’s “ministers of righteousness” is the end of all the domineering hierarchical and mythical religious en- title-ments that enslave them. Help ‘em out.

You who may have borne the false burdens that attend the embellishments of entitlement, please, there is no need to be distressed, now is the time to enjoy the freedom that is yours. There is no need to hide from the truth that is being shared here or worry about it upsetting ‘the little ones’ digestion with “strong meat” - 2,000 years ago it was considered “the sincere milk of the word”, it is basic and foundational. Through being ignorant of the finished work of God through His Son (we have all shared in it) you have simply been deluded, besides, there is no place to hide. In our Father’s good time we must all enjoy His truth together.

After you have read this writing, may God give you the perfect timing, grace, and wisdom to step down from your tenuous perches and wobbly edifices, and perhaps share/dissect whatever you are able to of this essay in introductory lessons or in smaller discussion groups - and enjoy true fellowship. I can’t tell you what will happen next, but I can tell you that our Father “gently leads those that are with young”, and in the process, you will find out who really loves you, and who you really love - and that love won!

What you have been caught up in, at best, are the graciously condescended temporary shelters and refuges of religious orphanages, and your supporting cast of ‘elders’ are full-grown orphans who cannot help but be threatening and insecure *sheep dogs because they have been spiritually stunted by the same diet of merchandised, pre-packaged, religious, empty convenience foods, wrapped in polysyllabic dogma and legalisms and homilies, as you were. *‘‘sheep’’, was the term for the flock of Israel, and Jesus was their Shepherd.

However, God is our Father, He is gentle, and kind, and, as He did with the religious killer, Saul of Tarsus, He bears with ignorance with a ‘‘mercy that endures forever.’’ We all have our blind-spots, we all need each other. Cheer up, and be of good courage, you are about to enter the best part of your life, and your bible is about to make sense.

‘‘Going unto Him without the camp’’, is leaving past or current dead understanding behind, and it is much easier when you trust that you have a future.

You do, live a little.

Chapter 17

No more doom 'n gloom!

“History does not repeat itself, but it does rhyme.”
Attributed to Mark Twain.

At the time of writing, there is still a vocal minority who are fearfully predicting the imminent return of Jesus Christ in judgment. Nothing new there, frightened people have been predicting dates since the real thing happened, as it was prophesied to Israel that it would, almost 2,000 years ago.

Such ‘id’iocy is the brainwashed narrative of death cults. We are Spirit, we don’t die, we don’t even, R.I.P., that is, ‘Rest In Peace’, in the rotting, worm-ridden, cold comfort of the grave. Before 70 AD that is what happened, but let’s follow the timeline of the first person who is recorded to have died. One day Abel was enjoying a stroll across a meadow, and then his brother Cain did his jealous and treacherous thing, and the next thing that Abel consciously knew was that he was awake and that he was in the presence of God and billions upon billions of people – the resurrected souls of everybody who had died between his own death and the last Israelite to die in the Roman siege of Jerusalem in 70 AD.

As for those who have, since 70 AD, “put off this mortal and put on immortality”, they are not dead. “In the twinkling of an eye”, they immediately went home to God our Father and, if they had not heard it earlier, they heard His judgment upon them.

In fact, if you don’t know it, you might be interested to know what your judgment will be.

STOP!!! Do not read further if you would like to keep it as a surprise.

OK, you were warned ... when you put off this body of humiliation, you are going to hear, on account of God’s Son, something like, “This is My beloved son in whom I am well-pleased.”

That’ll be God taking a deserved pat on the back for a job well done. He was the only One Who could have done it in and through you.

Chapter 18

We are sexy - at least for the time being

Earlier, we noted that, “in Christ, there is neither male nor female.” In communicating to us our Father refers to Himself as, “I AM”, He does not refer to Himself as, ‘THE GREAT IT’. Relationship with and amongst humans/Elohim/the children of God is not impersonal, and love is all about relationship, and “God is love”, so He condescends to use His preferred pronoun.

If you don’t like it, you can always take it up with Him, now, or later.

But, before you do, consider this, if you want to refer to God as, ‘She’, you need to be consistent and remember that Satan, well, she was a bltch too.

On a more considered note, Adam was “formed out of the earth”, and then he was put to sleep, and Eve was “fashioned”, from his ‘rib’, which is a poor and inadequate translation. You see, Adam called her, “bone of my bone, and flesh of my flesh.” Where do you think the flesh came from?

Hint: “Male and female made He them.” Eve was the first ‘womb-man’. Not only that, if you follow the creation calendar, the very last thing created, as God narrowed His focus and refined His handiwork, was, “Eve, the giver of life.” She was the exquisite pinnacle of God’s creation, He saved the finest and best ‘til last, and don’t forget this, she was made to be Adam’s complementary “helper.” The biblical pattern reveals that, “the greater serves the lesser.” Carnal thinking does not esteem the ‘service’ of love as it should, in fact, it despises it - witness Jesus, at the last supper, as He, “stripped off His outer clothing, and wrapped a towel around His waist.”

The self-same night that Jesus delivered the words, “He who would be Lord of all must be servant of all”, demonstrated it. Jesus took on the lowest position in an Israelite household, according to the thinking of the carnal mind, a handmaid – it freaked Simon Peter out, but nevertheless Jesus persisted in washing the feet of His disciples whom He now called, “friends.”

Having gently and humbly prepped His friends, the next 24 hours of His kangaroo court (can you say ‘lawfare’?), interrogation, torture, and execution, brutally drove home the lesson that Jesus had just exemplified ... a devastating lesson that destroyed all of their expectations and that hit them at ‘ludicrous speed’.

If you have read this far, you might have noticed that the carnal thinking of the meathead, male or female, consistently gets things bassakward.

Time for a nap.

Chapter 19

Something to sleep on

When Jesus was told by His disciples that His friend Lazarus was ill to the point of death, they might well have expected a little urgency on His part. Instead, Jesus hung around for a couple of days and then we are told, in best King James English, that He said, “Our friend Lazarus sleepeth.”

The disciples responded by saying, “Lord, if he sleeps, he shall do well. Then said Jesus unto them plainly, ‘Lazarus is dead’.”

When they finally checked into Lazarus’ hometown, they were informed that their friend had been dead for four days. You might know that Jesus then proceeded to raise Lazarus from the dead, if not, read John, chapter 11, it’s quite the story.

So, was Jesus just messin’ with the minds of His disciples, or was He teaching them, and us, something? If you look through the history of the Israelites, you will find a recurring phrase that is used to record someone who had shuffled off this mortal coil - they were described as being someone who “slept with his fathers.”

The closest thing that we can liken death too is a deep, ‘lights out’, dreamless sleep. Whether you awaken from a short nap or a ten-year coma, if you had no dreams, the first questions you would most likely ask would be, “What happened?”, or, “What time is it?”, and if you awoke in unfamiliar surroundings, “Where am I?”, and, “How did I get here?” When Abel woke up in 70 AD, after his own sudden and swift departure, he had no sensation of time having passed, he was gone, man, solid gone - for about 4,000 years.

On awakening, Abel would also have looked around and wondered who all those billions of resurrected souls were? Everyone else who had taken a ‘dirt-nap’ in the intervening period between his own mortal demise and 70 AD would also have been ‘awoken’ without any sensation of the passage of time. One second they would have been breathing in their mortal (subject-to-death) bodies in their various appointed time in history, the next moment, to their consciousness, they were gloriously resurrected and alive.

Since then, since 70 AD, everybody who has put off mortality has immediately joined the happy immortal throng ... and likewise, it will feel like a glorious and instantaneous change to you and me.

No, there are no hells, no purgatories, no 'sin bins' awaiting anybody because, believe it or not, Someone was sent, "the Resurrection and the Life", Who defeated/abolished, "the last enemy, death."

Although, "putting on immortality" will be a sudden and glorious occurrence it will be attended with a supernatural peace because everything in the heart and soul of humanity was made for it and yearns for it. Everything will simply be what we were made to long for and enjoy. We will be home.

Nobody will be 'R.I.P.'ing'.

John Brown's body might still be moulderin' in the grave, but he won't be. Nobody will. Ol' JB could very well be sharing the spiritual equivalent of a good laugh and a drink with Robert E. Lee while you are reading this.

Oh, yes, that means everyone, everyone, will feel equally and wholeheartedly welcome, and they will immediately enter into the full transcendent awareness of who they, and who we all, really are. All judgment, that is, if you ever had been under judgment, was laid upon Jesus. He did not go through all that He went through for white lies and cheating on your taxes. On the cross He even made a point of looking down and saying, “Father, forgive them, they do not know what they are doing.” This petition extended to include those who were mocking Him and who conspired to kill Him after He had resurrected Lazarus from the dead, because religion cannot handle the thought of everyone enjoying life together, forever. Religion just can’t do it, religion is spiritual death.

Perhaps thou mightest protesteth, “But those killers knew what they were doing!” Yup! They did, but the thing is, in their ignorance of God, they had no idea Who they were messing with.

None of us have that much of an idea!

Have you ever heard Christians ‘pleading the blood of Jesus’ over someone? Get this!

“When Pilate saw that he could prevail nothing, but that rather a tumult was made, he took water, and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this just person: see ye to it.”

After Pontius Pilate handed Jesus over to the bloodthirsty mob that had been, (surprise! surprise!) incited by their religious leaders, “then answered all the people, and said, His blood be on us, and on our children.” Matthew 27:24 & 25.

God is not above a little irony.

Psalm 2 says, “He who sits in the heavens laughs!”

There is so much more to explore, share, and enjoy on this subject. Only the light of truth can pierce the clinging shrouds of religious thinking that are nothing but the ominous imaginings of a cult!

BTW, how many reincarnations do you think Buddha had?! Hah! One moment he was receiving the parting accolades of those who believed that he had achieved enlightenment, and in the next moment, without any further meditation, he received the real thing! Meanwhile, he left his poor followers to tread out the interminable hamster-wheel of ‘enlightenment’.

Thank God, they, like him, and like us, were only required to do one lap!

In case you wondered what the purpose of life is ... it's Life.

Live it!

“For if through the offence of *one many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man, Jesus Christ, hath abounded unto many.” Romans 5:15.

*“one”: We know Who the first “one” mentioned in the passage was, Adam; and we know that the second, “one man” mentioned in the passage is, “the last Adam.” The “many” is everyone with the notable exception of ‘The One’. If you have been able to read this far, you would have had to have caught a really bad dose of religion to not grasp this.

When Adam was put to sleep, he woke up to Eve.

When Abraham tried to make a covenant with God, that he could not have kept, he was mercifully put to sleep, and God took responsibility for fulfilling the promise He had made to Abraham upon Himself.

When Jacob (‘heel-grabber’, connoting, ‘a schemer’) slept he woke up as Israel (‘Ruled by God’).

When Lazarus slept, he did not wake himself up, he was, “out called”, by name.

When Jesus asked His three closest disciples to stand guard in the Garden of Gethsemane, they slept through the most intense prayer-meeting of all time.

God does His best stuff when our proud little carnal minds cannot take the credit.

Chapter 20

A few thoughts on our not-so-free-will

“For it is God who works in you, both to will and to work for his good pleasure.” Philippians 2:13.

“The natural mind opposes the Spirit”, it is not neutral, it actively militates against the things of God. Our carnal minds see and do everything backwards. That is, the Spirit of the Father and Son, Who dwell as One in all of us, are opposed/denied by dark ignorance, through ‘the beast’ the flesh, and so we can find ourselves, in our dying flesh, in a state of confusion, sensing a battle raging within our souls. It would be bad enough to see everything exactly backwards, but in the turbulence of the confusion of our mortal/carnal lives, we often see things bassakwards.

That is why we can only find love, joy, peace, and sanity when we trust our Father.

A truth worth repeating: We are not human beings having a spiritual experience, we are One Spirit being expressed through a limitless diversity of human experiences. Enjoy, everybody. Enjoy everybody.

We cannot be settled, fully at peace, in our carnal/mortal (= subject to death) minds, because when we are in our carnal minds, we are not in our right minds.

When we are in our right spiritual mind, we trust in the character of our perfect Father, and in so doing, we discover who we really are, children of God, who are growing and becoming perfect fathers in a manner and timing that is beyond the comprehension of our natural minds and our five senses.

Jesus came to show us the Father, He only did what He saw His Father in heaven doing; He only beheld His Father in heaven (knowing His will, the heavenly purpose) and (did His work, on earth) – and now as One, with us, they are spiritually doing so in our earthly bodies. It might not look or feel like much to our carnal observation and understanding, but “judge nothing before its time.”

We ARE One with our Father and His Son, Who ARE One within and with us. The promised “new heaven and a new earth” ARE One in God, and in us, they express our highest thoughts (heaven) in our bodies (earth). “As a man thinks in His heart, so is He.” The mind of Christ is the One that was in the last/final Adam, Who was perfect in all of His ways. There was no confusion in Him, He was “the express image of God” ... and so ARE we.

Here’s a mouthful from the tree of life, there is no longer any “fruit on the tree of the knowledge of good and evil”, because, in reality, the tree of the knowledge of good and evil does not exist, it is a perceived duality that only exists where there is ignorance of God and His all-consuming goodness.

“Love is no decision
it leaves you with no choice, it’s the sound of many waters,
speaking with One voice.”

God is Spirit, He is not limited in perception, or action, or by time. “He sees the end from the beginning.” Our Father, Who “calls those things that are not as though they were”, is, and always has been, One with the Son, Who is “the Lamb slain from the foundation of the earth.” They are One, and as One, they created everything, and as One, they created man “in Their image.”

Think about it: there cannot be more than one truly free will – or it wouldn’t be free.

This writing declares ‘the church’, is a hoax. This means that those who have observed and been distorted by its teachings have built on a false foundation, and being so ‘fundamentally’ incorrect it means that all of their doctrines are skewed, perverted, and confused. If you begin a journey across the universe and you are ‘off’ by the tiniest fraction of a degree, you will eventually find yourself disappearing up the periphery of your own axis.

There are ideas introduced here that many might consider to be heretical. Indeed, there was a delay in the publishing of this work because every effort has been made to not come across as being condemnatory or unforgiving.

However, wherever I turn to in ‘churchified’ Christian circles, all I can hear are, at best, smooth-tongued lies wrapped in ‘good-intentions’ that pave the way to hell/the unseen. We, as a race have been desecrated, we have been defiled in our thinking.

I have been as polite and precise as I know how to be - but there is no apology being offered as to the content of what is being shared here. I wish I could say it better, but the subtlety of its original deception is what has made ‘the church’ so thoroughly evil.

“The wounds of a friend are faithful”, I am not here to negotiate or argue, I am declaring what I believe to be the beauty of our God, and of who we are.

The success of a lie can be measured by how small it is and by the length that it has endured.

We are God’s, we came out of Him, we are His expression.

Love will not win, love won.

Chapter 21

Take a walk on streets of gold

For a few minutes, let's put down our cell phones, and turn off our laptops, tablets, and TVs, and let's think what it would be like to not be inundated with '24/7' news coverage, and transfixed by 3-D movies, and I-Max theatres.

Now, sit at the feet of Jesus and put yourself in the place of a 1st century Israelite whose primary, if not sole, source of information was the scroll written entirely by Israelites TO Israelites.

Then, as a 1st century Israelite, hear your Messiah warn you about the tribulation that is about to come upon you, because within a short time of their hearing His words their world was to be turned upside down, beginning with the butchery, murder, and resurrection of their Lord, Messiah, and Friend. He said to them, "Immediately after the tribulation of those days shall the sun be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light, and the stars shall fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens shall be shaken.”

To our 21st century, over-stimulated, post ‘Star Wars’ ears, it would be easy to imagine ‘Death stars’, and CGI ‘Supernovas’, or find ourselves whimsically hitch-hiking through the galaxy, but put yourself in the place of a Galilean fisherman who had been raised two thousand years ago to hear and admire the oft-repeated story of Joseph, who, for over 1700 years was one of Israel’s most celebrated and most prominent heroes, as recorded in Genesis, chapter 37:

“Now Israel loved Joseph more than all his children because he was the son of his old age: and he made him a coat of many colours. And when his brethren saw that their father loved him more than all his brethren, they hated him and could not speak peaceably unto him.

“And Joseph dreamed a dream, and he told it his brethren: and they hated him yet the more. And he said unto them, Hear, I pray you, this dream which I have dreamed: For, behold, we were binding sheaves in the field, and, lo, my sheaf arose, and also stood upright; and, behold, your sheaves stood round about, and made obeisance to my sheaf. And his brethren said to him, Shalt thou indeed reign over us? or shalt thou indeed have dominion over us? And they hated him yet the more for his dreams, and for his words.

“And he dreamed yet another dream and told it his brethren, and said, Behold, I have dreamed a dream more; and behold, the sun and the moon and the eleven stars made obeisance to me. And he told it to his father, and to his brethren: and his father rebuked him, and said unto him, What is this dream that thou hast dreamed? Shall I and thy mother and thy brethren indeed come to bow down ourselves to thee to the earth?”

Jesus' disciples would not have considered this prophecy concerning the end of their tribulation to be a series of massive cosmological events occurring in a universe that they knew little, or next to nothing, about. Indeed, they would have considered it, as Joseph's family did (over 3,700 years ago our time, 1,700 years ago “out called” time), who immediately understood, as stated in the text, that in Joseph's dream, the sun represented Joseph's father, the moon represented Joseph's mother, and the eleven stars represented Joseph's brothers - which is why they didn't like it. The disciples would have instantly known that the dreams of Joseph represented the overthrowing of the jealously guarded relative positions of accepted traditional and carnal authority.

If Jesus' disciples did not immediately understand this they would have understood the fullness of Jesus' prophecy when "the end of the ages of the ages of Israel" as God's chosen nation happened. They would have known that the darkening of the sun, the moon not giving its light, and the stars falling from heaven represented the end of the familiar authorities of Israel, being Herod, the corrupted priesthood, and the various self-important and celebrated notable dignitaries of Israel.

Stars were around long before Hollywood.

Indeed, with the former things having passed away, they would have found themselves very much standing in need of, "a new heaven and a new earth."

This is just one example of how scripture, when it is viewed from the perspective of Hebrew antiquity, should be properly understood. Greek philosophy and modern scientific discovery have their place and have shaped and molded our lives, but if our thinking is not properly founded, it leads us to founder on incomplete, incorrect, and misleading imaginings and theories.

“When I look back on all the crap I learned in high school, it’s a wonder that I can even think at all.”
‘Kodachrome’, Paul Simon.

In my personal walk, I am having my 21st century conditioned mind constantly adjusted, and I am thoroughly enjoying enlightenment through the understanding and appreciation of the poetic and recurring symbology of ancient Hebrew culture throughout scripture, and I am particularly growing in a deeper understanding of the book commonly called, 'Revelation', that is actually, “The Unveiling of Jesus Christ.” I would love to hear from those who have progressed further into the recovering of the understanding that “the out called” of Israel walked in so that we can better understand how scripture pertains, not only to us, but to the countless generations that will follow us. We have only just begun, contrary to alarmist ‘church prophecy’, everything is not ending tomorrow.

Thanks for reading ‘The Holy Hoax’. If you would like to offer any comments or criticisms please go to the page provided.

For those who feel that this was too severe an indictment of ‘the church’ understand that being ignorant is one thing, and there are many who sincerely trust in God, but they are ignorant of, not Christ’s evangel, but that Christ’s evangel was an evangel/the good news to Israel, and that Jesus, as He said, was “the Door” to the evangel/the good news of God. Thankfully, as previously stated, “Father gently leads those that are with young.” He is long-suffering and His plan extends far, far longer than any of us can possibly imagine.

We live in interesting times, and we are currently seeing the affairs of men undergoing deep, and ever-accelerating adjustment and change. To knowingly continue in the guise of being the bearer of, and witness to, ‘good news’, and be ignorant of the evangel of God, our Father, through the usurpacious displacement of “the out called” and their unique commission by the imposture of ‘the church’, only serves to hinder mankind in the enjoyment of its rightful inheritance.

Such stubbornness invites the sudden adjustment of a jealous Father. I hope that you are blessed to read this, we would not have met on these pages unless it was our Father’s will to do so.

There is no condemnation in being deceived, but to persist in a deception only invites further grief.

Without condemnation, guilt, shame, or fear, we will receive correction in God’s glorious light, but don’t worry, it’s a release, like getting home and taking a long hot shower after slogging, lost and confused, through an infested, fetid, grimy swamp. It will be a refreshingly great resolution, but ask yourself, am I pointlessly living in fear of what men might think of, or do to, me? Remember, to put it as accurately as the English language allows, we are all in a state of continuous and everlasting life, you, the real you, cannot be held by death . . .

. . . and, instead of being overly concerned about shaking up and disturbing those who are incarcerated within the confines of ‘the church’, think about all those on this incredible planet on which we live who are being denied the truth of the love of God, our Father.

Finally, we shall close with the words given to Israel through their prophet, Jeremiah, Chapter 23:

25 “I have heard what the prophets say who prophesy lies in my name. They say, ‘I had a dream! I had a dream!’ 26 How long will this continue in the hearts of these lying prophets, who prophesy the delusions of their own minds? 27 They think the dreams they tell one another will make my people forget my name, just as their ancestors forgot my name through Baal worship. 28 Let the prophet who has a dream recount the dream, but let the one who has my word speak it faithfully. For what has straw to do with grain?" declares the Lord. 29 "Is not my word like fire," declares the Lord, "and like a hammer that breaks a rock in pieces?

30 "Therefore," declares the Lord, "I am against the prophets who steal from one another words supposedly from me. 31 Yes," declares the Lord, "I am against the prophets who wag their own tongues and yet declare, 'The Lord declares' 32 "Indeed, I am against those who prophesy false dreams," declares the Lord. "They tell them and lead my people astray with their reckless lies, yet I did not send or appoint them. They do not benefit these people in the least," declares the Lord."

Thankfully, those who for almost 2,000 years have professed to speak the words of God have not faced the consequences that those of Israel who lived under the threat of the law. However, the suffering and blindness that has been inflicted, by promoting one another's dreams and sheltering in a consensus of lies and half-truths, is immeasurable and known only by our patient, long-suffering, and trustworthy God.

“Some men stumble upon the truth, but they then pick themselves up and carry on as if nothing happened.” Winston Churchill.

My friends, enough is enough, ‘the church’ is a demonstrable falsehood, and most certainly were not, and are not, “the out called.” There is one thing worse than being disillusioned, and that is being illusioned. We are not to, “follow a multitude to do evil.” Trillions of flies might eat BS, but that doesn’t mean that we do!

Speak truth, as best as you know it, and not the imaginations and fabrications of men.

I look forward to hearing the story of God’s grace in your life.

Do you now believe the term, ‘the church’, is scriptural, or do you believe that it has hidden the testimony of the finished work of God through His Son?
